NEW CRISIS THREATENS IN C.E.R. DISPUTE

Gloucester Building Slander Evidence

NEW PLANES FOR EURASIA

CHINA AIR LINES DEVELOPMENT

Berlin, May 31.
Two German aeroplanes which have been bought for the joint Sino-German air line, the Eurasia Company, left for China this afternoon from the Tempelhof Aerodrome in Berlin.
The Eurasia Company have big development plans preparing, including a special service, via Canton and Hankow, from Hongkong to Europe, in eight days.—Reuter.

EUROPEAN FOUND SHOT

MR. W.S. CUFF

In circumstances pointing to suicide, the distressing discovery made this morning of the body of Mr. W. S. Cuff, a well-known local resident, in King's Park, with a shot wound in his head. A 32 revolver was by his side.

The body was lying near some bushes in the vicinity of the Nippon Tennis Club, at 8.45 a.m. Within five minutes Police were summoned to the spot and they had the remains removed to the Kowloon Mortuary.

The funeral takes place this afternoon.

The late Mr. William Sheather Cuff was in Government service until November last, being connected with the Kowloon-Canton Railway which he joined in January, 1914 as a guard. Prior to this it is understood he served in the Royal Marines. On being seconded for military service, he was absent from the Colony until 1920, when on his return, he resumed service with the Railway as Traffic Inspector.

GENIAL PERSONALITY.

A genial and pleasing personality, he was a member of many Clubs, including the Kowloon Bowling Green, where he was an enthusiastic bowler. He was retired on pension at the end of last year. He was 49 years of age, and unmarried.

PERU-COLOMBIA AGREEMENT

London, May 31.

The Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, in the Commons today said he was glad to announce that an agreement for the settlement of the dispute between Peru and Colombia was signed on May 25 at Geneva.

The agreement was based on the formula adopted by the League Advisory Committee and provided for the immediate cessation of hostilities and the despatch to Leticia within thirty days of a commission nominated by the Council.

The Commission would, in the name of Colombia, take over the administration of the territory evacuated by the Peruvian forces and carry on its task for a maximum of one year pending the negotiations for a final settlement. —British Wireless.

ORCHESTRA LEADER'S STORY

STOPPAGE OF CREDIT INCIDENT

Mr. Frank Lewiston Adamson, better known as Dick Adamson, former leader of the Gloucester Buildings Orchestra, continued his evidence on resumption at the Supreme Court this morning of the slander action in which he is claiming $1,000 damages.

Defendant is Mr. Percy Ingham Newman, the manager of the Building.

Mr. M. A. da Silva, of Messrs. D'Almada, Remedios, and Silva, is for plaintiff, and the defendant is represented by Mr. W. A. Macdonald, of Messrs. Deacons.

This morning, Mr. Adamson said he did not wish to sign the agreement proffered him by defendant as he would not work on that contract. Defendant, however, induced him to sign it, representing that it was necessary for record purposes, and assured him that another agreement in keeping with the verbal arrangements would be drawn up.

CREDIT INCIDENT.

Mr. Silva: Before the 20th of December, was there not an incident about your credit?—Yes, I went to the Gloucester Building about the 10th or 15th of December—of course, the ballroom was closed—and was sitting in the lounge with my wife and two friends. I ordered drinks. The boy brought a chit and immediately, the Number One boy came up and said, "You cannot sign a chit here, your credit is stopped." He said this in a very rude and nasty manner.

I called for Mr. Gladstone, the sub-manager and asked him what was the idea of my chits being stopped. He assured me he knew nothing about it and went out to get the Credit Book. My name was not in it which meant that my credit had not been stopped. I immediately went out to see Mr. Newman and he also assured me he knew nothing about it and said he would phone down to Mrs. Drake.

Mrs. Drake was out but he spoke to the clerk and asked about it and the clerk said my credit had been stopped.

"PERFECTLY RIGHT"

I said to Mr. Newman: "What is the idea of that?" and he replied: "Well, in any case, if Mrs. Drake stopped your credit, she was perfectly right in doing so." He added that he would see about it the next day.

Mr. Silva: From the date of the re-opening, how was business in the Gloucester Building?—Business was not what it was before the ball-room closed. It was in the holiday season but there was not near the crowd there should have been.

Mr. Silva: Did it become better?—As a matter of fact it started going down from the date of the re-opening as far as ten dances were concerned.

Mr. Silva: Were there any complaints arising during this period?—Continual complaints.

Mr. Silva: About what?—Mostly about the floor.

FLOOR ISSUE.

Mr. Silva: You will remember an incident sometime about the beginning of January between you and Mr. Newman at a dinner dance?—I remember. Mr. Newman came up and asked me why I was always complaining about the floor and he said he himself had received numerous complaints and did not know what to do about it. I told him the floor was absolutely unmade with wax which was not properly rubbed in. —(Continued on Page 2)

THE PROBLEMS OF EUROPE

Geneva, May 31.
M. Paul-Boncour, the French Foreign Minister, left for Paris this evening. It is understood that there will be a meeting in Paris on Friday morning between Mr. Norman Davis, Sir John Simon and M. Paul-Boncour, when they will discuss the general situation.—Reuter.

VIENNA RAIDS NAZIS

PREMIER SPURNS ADVANCES

HITLER-MUSSOLINI RIVALRY

Vienna, May 31.
The Police to-day rigorously searched the Nazi headquarters in Vienna, whilst the houses of Austrian Nazi leaders in Vienna and other towns were subjected to severe inspection.

These included the house of Herr Habicht, Hitler's agent in Austria, who has been carrying on negotiations with the Chancellor, Doctor Dollfuss, for the formation of a coalition between the Nazis and the Christian Socialists, the Government party.
Herr Habicht declares that the negotiations failed because the Government were not willing to grant the Nazis a share of the cabinet corresponding to their strength.—Reuter.

BEHIND THE SCENES.

Behind the developments in Austria, is an underground battle for supremacy between Hitler and Mussolini with the Italian Premier at present holding most of the cards. Between the two stands Dr. Engelbert Dollfuss, the harassed premier who is attempting to rule Austria without the assistance of Parliament.

Meanwhile the Socialists, who up to now have controlled Vienna, have secretly armed, and the Jewish population is in constant dread. They fear the German Nazi movement may snatch control.

NAZIS' PROMPT CAMPAIGN.

As soon as the Hitler group found its feet on firm ground in Germany, it organised plans for taking over Austria. Between 3,000 and 5,000 Nazi agitators were sent into the country.

Nazi storm divisions are armed in Austria as in Germany, and showed their force recently when for hours they paraded through the streets of Vienna. After that incident, Dollfuss sent for the chief of police and obtained his immediate resignation. The next day the police chief joined the

GERMANY'S WORK PLAN

A COMPREHENSIVE SCHEME

Berlin, May 31.
A bill authorising the Finance Minister to issue bonds up to a value of a thousand million marks for financing the Government scheme for creating working, has been passed by the Cabinet.

The Bill was sponsored by Dr. Schacht, the President of the Reichsbank, who will deal with the financial part of the plan.
This includes provision for repairs to public and private buildings, the erection of suburban garden cities, the creation of agricultural settlements and new roads throughout the country.

The Bill also provides for means of transferring women from business employment to households and encourages marriages by giving couples financial support.

It also encourages industry to increase production in order to frustrate dumping by countries with depreciated currencies.—Reuter.

ITALIAN INFLUENCE

Ruling in the cabinet with Dr. Dollfuss are members of the Heimwehr, a semi-military group, comparable to the Reichswehr in Germany, and this is where Mussolini became interested. As the Nazi influence grew in Austria, the Heimwehr, formerly a poverty-stricken semi-military organization, leaped into prominence. They appeared with brand-new uniforms, rifles, and even light artillery. The aim of the Heimwehr is restoration of the monarchy and the destruction of Socialist rule in Vienna.

Everyone in Vienna asserts openly that the new rifles and uniforms of the Heimwehr were a present from Italy. Mussolini does not want Italy surrounded entirely by a fiercely nationalistic pan-German race.
At the same time, Mussolini's outward relationship with the Hitler government continues as before.

POLICE HOLD BALANCE.

The Vienna police force, a powerful and magnificently disciplined body of men, is a source of worry both to the Heimwehr and the Nazis. Dr. Dollfuss is never quite sure what will happen to his police, which are really his army. The Austrian, that is to say the Vienna, police by inclination should be Nazi in sympathies.
The German National Socialist movement began in Austria. Hitler came from the Mistelbach mountain regions. It so happens that most of the Austrian police are recruited from the region.
Their action yesterday however seems to suggest that Dr. Dollfuss can rely on them.

RUSSO-JAPANESE NOTES EXCHANGED

TOKYO DENIES ANY RESPONSIBILITY

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1892. Received, June 1, 8.02 a.m.)

HARBIN, JUNE 1.

AN ATMOSPHERE OF TENSION IN THE C.E.R. DISPUTE HAS AGAIN DEVELOPED SERIOUSLY.

The Soviet having refused to return the locomotives, alleged by Manchukuo to have been "stolen" from the C.E.R., Manchukuo have retaliated by blocking the line at Manchuli and Suifenho, shutting off all connexion to the Soviet and thus closing the short route to Vladivostok.

In an official statement to journalists yesterday afternoon, Mr. Lo Shao-ken declared that the stoppage of transit traffic was the most suitable and most effective method to make the Soviet Government re-consider their illegal actions.

"PRETEXT FOR VIOLENT ACTIONS"

Mr. Li Shao-ken declared that the "theft" of seventy-nine locomotives from the Chinese Eastern Railway and the failure of the Soviet to return wagons, constitutes a violation of the agreement privately concluded in 1925 by the manager of the C.E.R. and the President of the Ussuri Railway governing the exchange of wagons. He also asserted that the failure of the Soviet to return the rolling stock taken into Russian territory was a violation of Manchukuo's sovereign rights, preventing the efficient functioning of the C.E.R.—Reuter.

RUSSO-JAPANESE NOTES.

Moscow, May 31.
Meanwhile, feeling in Russia has been exacerbated by an exchange of Notes between Russia and Japan on the C.E.R. dispute.

JAPAN'S ATTITUDE.

The Japanese Note, which was sent in reply to the Soviet demand, made on May 16, that the Japanese Government take effective measures to protect the interests of the Soviet in regard to the railway, points out that many of the alleged infringements of those interests mentioned by the Soviet have already been the province of the Manchukuo Government and Japan

ALLEGED RIFT IN CABINET

APPARENTLY NOT TRUE

London, May 31.

London political circles were full of rumours to-day suggesting that Sir John Simon is likely shortly to tender his resignation from the Cabinet.

The rumour were based upon the Foreign Minister's recent ill-health, although it was also suggested in some quarters that the real reason was connected with an acute disagreement with the majority of the Cabinet in the matter of air bombing.

It is stated that Sir John Simon is opposed to air bombing of any description, even for police purposes, and has urged that the reservation in the British Disarmament Plan be withdrawn.

SIR JOHN'S PLANS.

Reuter learns, however, that Sir John Simon has no intention of resigning on the air bombing issue, but he will not go to Geneva this week in any case and he may rest after Friday's debate in the House of Commons on Foreign Affairs.

At Geneva, it is understood the General Commission decided not to take the second reading of the British Disarmament Convention but to adjourn the Conference for three weeks.

NEW CONVENTION.

In the meantime, the Bureau of the Conference will draft a fresh Convention based upon the British Plan with the approved amendments.

In the House of Commons tonight, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, replying to questions in reference to the British reservation for the use of aircraft for police purposes in outlying areas, said the Government would obviously be free to employ such aircraft as they might be allotted under the convention in such manner and in such places as they might think fit, subject to any international regulation that might be agreed. —Reuter and British Wireless.

GERMAN SUBSIDY FOR SHIPPING

London, May 31.

The Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade, replying to a question in the Commons regarding press reports that the German Government are proposing a subsidy of 20,000,000 marks to Germany shipping, said the question of shipping subsidies was included in the Trade Agenda for the World Economic Conference. —British Wireless.

Manchukuo to the rolling-stock retained by the Soviet.

By their readiness to start negotiations for the sale of the C.E.R., the Soviet Government clearly expressed their wish to eliminate all ground for conflict affecting the friendly relations between the U.S.S.R. and Japan.

SOVIET POLICY.

Striving to consolidate those relations which are the elements of the Soviet's pacific policy and the Soviet Government had the right to expect that the Japanese Government would be guided by identical motives.
The Soviet Government hopes that all controversial questions will be settled in a friendly spirit in accordance with the concluding assurances of the Japanese Note.

FILMY FROCKS FOR FILMDOM'S FAMOUS

Maureen O'Sullivan.

Hollywood.—Clothes are getting summery and charming.
Maureen O'Sullivan has a new white lace frock with cape sleeves and flaring skirt and makes a completely lovely picture by topping it with a picture hat of white straw adorned with buds and flowers of white patent leather.

Joan Crawford, wore a starched chiffon dress and a huge spray of orchids.
Vera Engels, wore a powder blue embroidered organdie dress with its own little matching three-tiered cape, all rippling around her.

Patricia Ellis has a new dinner dress of white organdie with butterfly sleeves, very short, a high collar and butterfly bow of organdie under the chin and dress itself form-fitting and smart as can be. She wears fancy white organdie gloves with it, with flaring three tiered cuffs.

Marlene Dietrich, has a handsome new spring suit of black linen, with bodice blouse and matching hat.
Marian Nixon, wore the most summery print seen to date.
It was beige chiffon, with bright coloured field flowers splashed gaily all over it.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF.

By Alicia Hart

Our grandmothers used to take sulphur and molasses for a spring tonic.

Modern women find facials, new coiffures and a manicure do the trick very nicely and are much easier to take.

Spring should make every woman look into her mirror.

If your face isn't shining and handsome to greet life during this hopeful season, do something about it.

The most hopeless face can be spruced up. The stringiest and drabbiest hair can take on new life, new sheen and be done becomingly.

If you are too fat, then you'll have to reduce, there's nothing else that can raise your ego to the pitch spring intends it to be.
Otherwise, your work in getting your spring tonic is infinitesimal.

First of all, either take the plunge and get your face done for you or give yourself a facial that's worthy of the name. You can get very inexpensive halffacials, or business-facials or whatever name your local beauty shops call their half-price facials this spring. And the luxury of lying back in state, with someone else worrying about your face for a change, has a marvellous effect on your spirits.

Your hair probably needs reconditioning. That means much brushing, massage, a bit of tonic every night. Nothing sets a woman up more than a permanent wave, remember that. Give yourself a water wave or put your hair up in kid curlers, or do something to make it prettier. Spring should call out your best efforts!

BABY'S "PLAYGROUND"

It is an excellent idea to cover the sides and bottom of the baby's play pen with oil cloth. Oil cloth is easily washed with soap and water and, in gay colours, presents a very cheerful appearance.

USEFUL HINTS.

Plaids for Style.

Plaid silk dresses are smarter than printed ones this spring.
Many of them have jackets of solid colours and it is very chic to have a jacket of the same coloured plaid in larger squares.

Coats and Dresses, Both

Some of the new coat dresses for spring are most practical.
They are made to wear either as a coat or as a dress. The ones with detachable capes or with extra fur pieces allow for a wider range of variety.

Printed in the World's Fair Fashion

Architecture has gone into women's clothes, as evidenced in this charming new print in rich brown and rose tones, designed by Walter Dorwin Teague who was inspired by the exteriors of some of the buildings now being built for the Century of Progress Exposition.

This dress is particularly lovely and wearable, being a one-piece model, with flaring three-quarters cape sleeves, an old-fashioned yoke and a sash made of brown organdie, that drapes over one shoulder and ties in a bow. It is removable for laundering.

SEASIDE RESORTS RESIST SCHEME

The Government's plan to relieve distressed areas—where rates are 14s. or more in the £—by rearranging the Exchequer grants at the expense of the wealthier areas, is meeting with resistance.
Opposition comes mainly from seaside, pleasure and residential perity.

They say they have upkeep expenses, which are not borne by industrial areas.

BY H. W. CORLEY

CHAPTER XLIV

It was Barry's voice that Mona heard. "Oh, my darling, you've come at last!"

Barry was beside her. After all these days and weeks of courteous formality, of coldness almost, he was again the Barry she had learned to love. For a moment Mona did not speak, did not turn her head. She sank against the white linen shoulder, against the arm which enclosed her and sighed. Then, still without speaking, she raised her hand and pressed it against Barry's face.

"Yes, Barry, I—I'm here!" They stood in silence. The sands lay white around them. The sea under the white moonlight rippled quietly. The flamboyant trees close at hand swayed softly. There seemed no one else in the world except these two.

Mona did not look at Barry. Her head sank lower against his shoulder. She could feel the beating of his heart as tumultuous as her own. "Mona, why did you do it, darling?" he said at last.

"Do what, Barry?" Still she did not look at him. He had caught her hand in his own.

"Do what? Oh, Mona, how could you! Why did you marry my uncle?" The despair in his voice tore her heart.

"Why did you run away?" she countered.

He was miserable and she was adding to his misery. "How could I stay when I knew?"

"Barry!" He did not speak for a moment but his arm tightened about her. "Barry! Do you think I married your uncle for his money?"

"It certainly looked that way. You knew I had none. You knew—"

She shook her head. The tendrils of her hair touched his cheek. "How could you think that of me?" Mona demanded. "You hadn't asked me to marry you. You hadn't even said you loved me!"

"But you knew."

"I thought I did! That was why when Mr. Garretson asked me to rush to Twilands and marry Barry Townsend I didn't hesitate! That was the way it all happened, Barry. It didn't occur to me that your uncle's name was Barry, too. It didn't occur to me that I was going to Twilands for any other reason except to marry you!"

"But when Garretson told you it was my uncle—" Barry began. "He didn't! We talked it all over without mentioning the man's name. Finally I asked him just as I was going out the door who the man was and he said 'Barry Townsend.'"

"And you thought you were going to Twilands to marry me?" Barry said slowly.

Mona nodded. "Until I was there in the sick room."

"And by that time I was on board the Miranda!"

Barry's head dropped miserably and Mona reached out a hand once more and touched his cheek. "It's not too late now, Barry," she said timidly. "It's not too late. We aren't old yet. And we're here—"

"How can I marry my uncle's wife?" demanded Barry bitterly. "My aunt!" He stared into space. "Mona, oh, how could you—how could you!"

"Your uncle's widow, Barry," Mona whispered, "but never his wife! I was never that!"

"You mean—?"

"I mean I was to consider the marriage for a year. I told you that before. He died before the year ended."

There was a silence in which little by little Barry's misery spent itself. Here was Mona, loving him whole-heartedly, the past explained away. She had come to him of her own accord, since she guessed rightly that he would not seek her out.

They would be married to-morrow! They would go to Port of Spain and the consul could perform the ceremony. Was there anything irregular about marrying one's aunt? Steve and Lottie could be the attendants. They could live here always in happiness and peace. Why not?

Mona stirred in Barry's arms. She laughed a little, happily.

"Will you marry me, Mona?" Right away?

He could feel her stiffen suddenly at the words. "I can't do that, Barry."

"Why not?"

"But I don't understand you, Mona." His voice was hurt, puzzled. "You said you loved me and now you say you can't marry me! Why?"

She did not answer for a moment. "I have something I must do first, Barry," she said slowly.

"You mean you must go home first?"

She shook her head at this, then slowly nodded. "Maybe. It might be necessary."

"There isn't any reason why you can't marry me, is there?" he asked quickly. "Uncle didn't bind you in any way? He didn't specify that you could never marry me—"

"Not exactly. He said—"

"Then it's the money!"

She nodded agreement and Barry's expression hardened. "You mean if you marry me you'll forfeit your right to the fortune?"

As the girl did not speak he went on again. "Is that what you mean, Mona?"

"If I marry anyone, Barry."

"You mean you lose the money and you care for that? It means more than your love for me? Is that what you're trying to say? Tell me you would rather have this money than marry me! Tell me!"

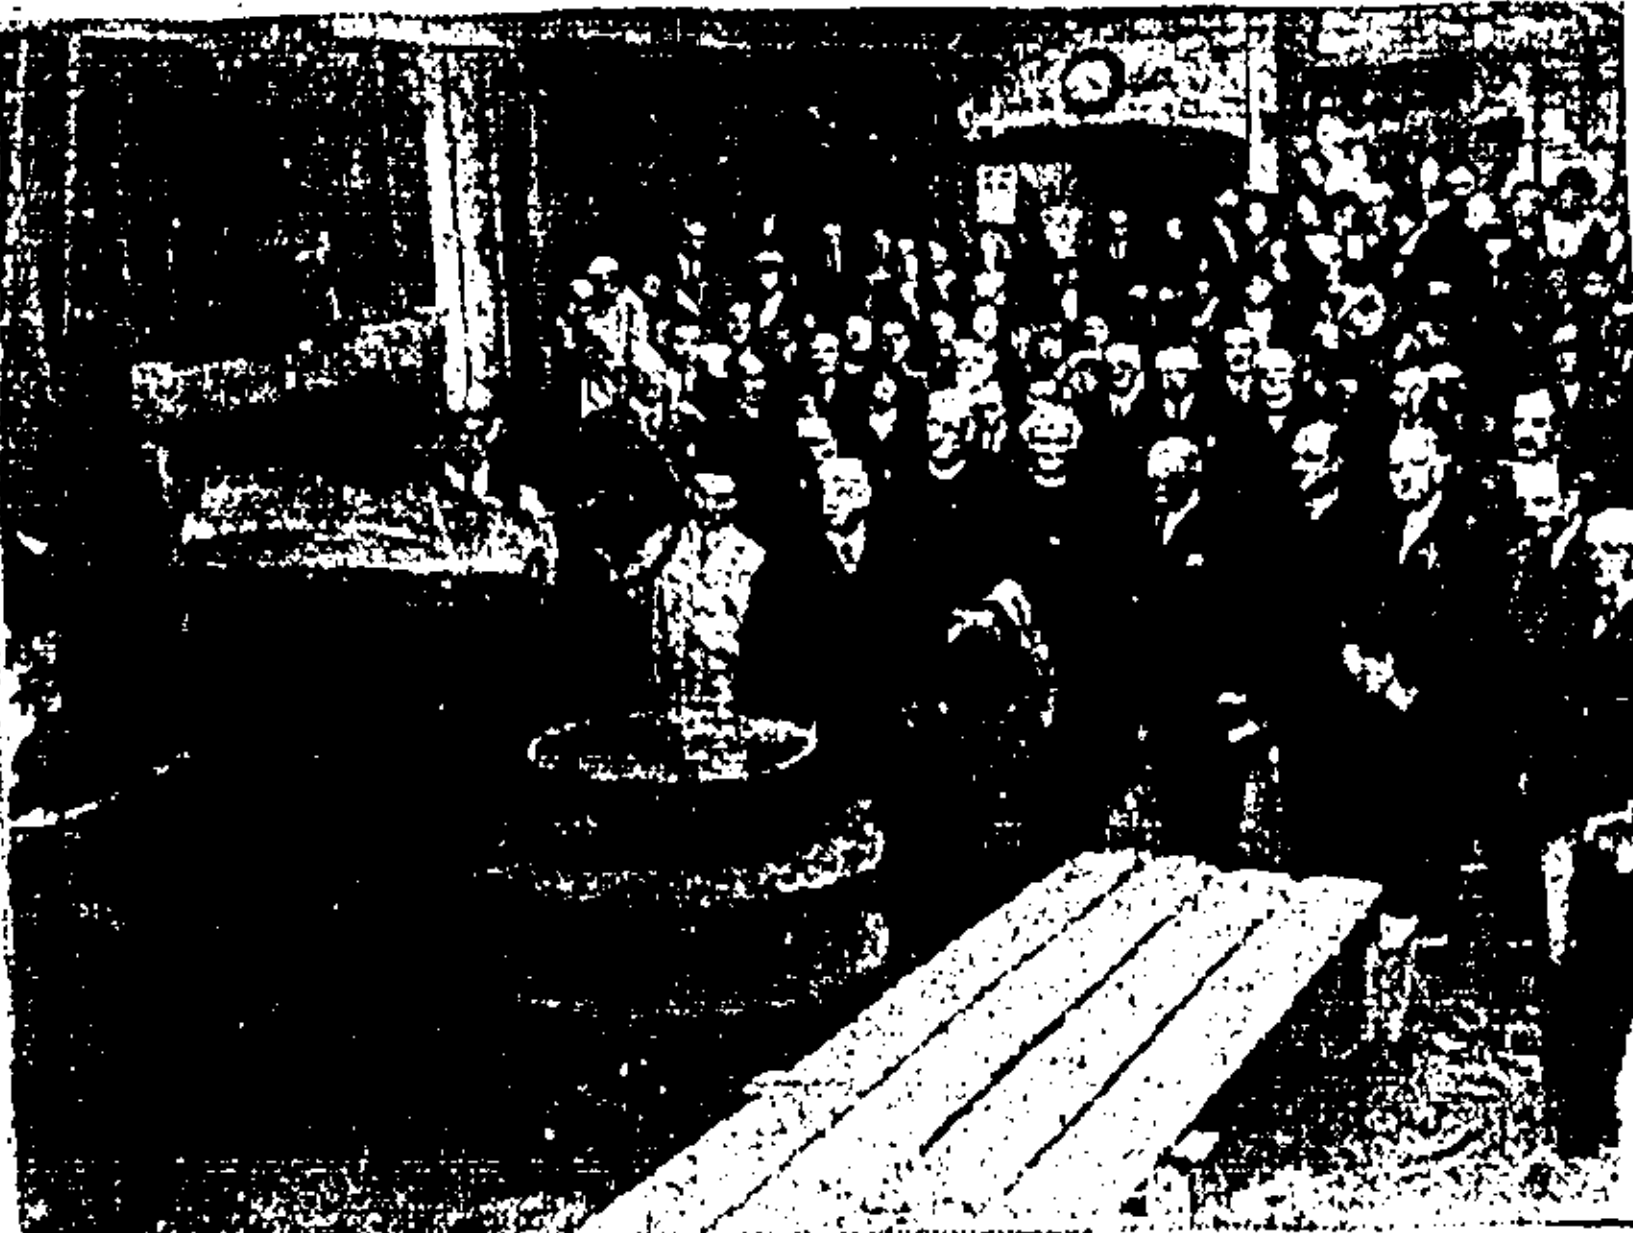

He shook her fiercely.

"You don't understand," Mona began. "I do want to marry you

What the Shanghai Race Club's new building will look like when completed, is shown by the above prospectus. The foundation stone of the new club-house and grand stand, was laid last week by Mr. A. W. Burkill at an interesting ceremony attended by members of the club, guests and their wives. Last year the original S.R.C. Grand stand looked like this.

ARMISTICE SIGNED.

CONFIRMATION ARRIVES FROM THE NORTH

Peking, May 31.
An Armistice between China and Japan has been signed.

First reports that peace had been established in the North came from Japanese sources but later messages confirmed what were at first thought to be rumours.

According to Chinese reports both Lieut.-Gen. Okamura and Major-Gen. Koiso are now in Tangku, but the latter is not expected to remain long as General Okamura is chief Japanese delegate to the Peace Conference.

The Chinese Press states that the special train bearing the Chinese delegates arrived at Tangku yesterday afternoon, and soon afterwards the delegates of both sides met informally.—Reuter.

Terms of Armistice.

Tangku, May 31.
It is learned that the armistice provides for the Demilitarisation of an area bounded by the Great Wall on the North, the Peking-Mukden Railway on the East and the Peking-Suiyuan Railway on the West; the dissolution of the Chinese Volunteer Corps on the area mentioned. These troops in future must not be encouraged or supported by the Chinese authorities. Resumption of rail traffic

NEW YORK STOCK
EXCHANGEYESTERDAY'S MARKET STEADY

According to Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz, the New York market was steady yesterday. Business done: 6,080,000 shares. The Wall Street Journal reports:—Heavy profit-taking reduced all sections after a strong opening, which was a carry-over from Monday's momentum. The most active stocks were Radio Corporation, Transamerica and General Electric all of which reached new highs.

"Ironage" magazine reports:—Steel production was 41% of capacity. May bookings were heaviest in nearly two years. Further production gains coupled with increasing demand and growing strength in prices is rapidly establishing the industry on a firm footing.

Istanbul. Hassan Bey, a native of Kairi in Anatolia, was heart-broken when his wife, whom he married when he was forty, died five years later.

That was 65 years ago. Now Hassan Bey is 110, but since his wife's death he has spoken to no one; worn mourning continually; and spent all his days in his workshop.

He never drinks alcohol, tea or coffee, and never smokes.—Reuter.

THE RISE OF DILLON.

More spectacular, and the only Wall Street house without decades of influence behind it, is Dillon, Read & Co., 28 Nassau street. A partnership in this firm is believed by some to be worth more in money each year than one in J. P. Morgan or Kuhn, Loeb.

The story of this firm is the story of its brilliant head, Clarence Dillon, who reorganized the older firm of William A. Read & Co.

Scarcely had he done so when he startled the country by undertaking reorganization of Goodyear Rubber, a job many Wall Street firms had shied away from. Dillon successfully floated $90,000,000 in new securities in the reorganized company, and became suddenly one of the great of the banking world.

But his most spectacular deal was the outright purchase of Dodge Bros. from the founders' heirs, for cash. Even J. P. Morgan & Co. was openly challenged in this deal. Morgan wanted it for his General Motors interest. But Dillon's cash won the day, and the cheque he wrote for $146,000,000 was one of the largest private industrial transactions for cash ever made.

Three years later he sold his Dodge holdings to Chrysler at a profit estimated at $40,000,000. Besides these enormous deals, Dillon was instrumental in organizing Youngstown Sheet & Tube out of the Sheet and Tube merger, and bought an $8,000,000 interest in the Bank of Manhattan Co. He has floated loans for Brazil, Netherlands, Japan, Poland, France, Germany and several South American countries.

As Dillon is now 51, his original ambition to become a street car motorman in his native San Antonio, Tex., will probably never be realized.

A TEST FOR OCEAN FLYING

In a world grown a little dazed by chasing its tail around a spiralled path of economics and politics it is difficult to spare much time for contemplation of activities that are more spectacular than useful. Nevertheless, it is worth noticing that the Italian aviation corps is about to stage one of the most sensational flights that has ever been attempted. In the next few days, unless plans are suddenly altered, a squadron of 24 Italian seaplanes, under the leadership of Gen. Italo Balbo, will attempt to fly from Italy to Chicago. The total distance to be covered exceeds 6,300 miles and it will be accomplished in six hops, from Rome to Amsterdam, Amsterdam to Northern Scotland, from Scotland to Iceland, Iceland to Labrador, on to Montreal and Chicago.

The flight, of course, will be linked with the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago. It will be a "good will" gesture of considerable value for the Italian government. It will, also—if it is blessed with any measure of success—do a great deal to hasten the day when regular transoceanic air services are commonplace. One hundred flyers have been chosen to take part in the flight, and in preparation for it they have been trained as rigorously as any group of Olympic athletes. Italy is taking no chances of failure. Machines and men will be in the best possible condition. The very thought of two dozen aeroplanes winging their way across the ocean in a body is exciting. There will be people, of course, who will be quick to proclaim that such a flight emphasises the need for stronger defences against hostile air fleets. The old bogeys of the destruction of leading cities by bombs will be hauled out again; the old story about the new supremacy of the aeroplane will be chanted anew. These arguments can be left to military authorities. For the ordinary persons, the flight will be noteworthy as a demonstration of the reliability of the aeroplane as an instrument of long-distance communication. If a squadron of this size can accomplish an ocean crossing, it should be fairly obvious that regular transatlantic air services can and should be established. We shall be forced to realise that so far we have hardly begun to use all the marvellous potentialities of the aeroplane. The Italian government, attempting a spectacular flight, bids fair to give the cause of air transportation the biggest fillip it has received since Lindbergh's Atlantic flight.

Self-Help for Iron and Steel

There are two points of special interest in connexion with the recently approved scheme for the reorganisation of the iron and steel trade in Great Britain. The first is the scheme's frank recognition, in a world where an aeroplane flying over the Himalayas affects the employment of garage hands in Derby, that a final solution for the problems of a national industry can be found only through international co-operation. The root trouble of the iron and steel industry is that of most other industries, an excess of production over consumption, a condition that necessitates international action for bringing the two sides of the equation into equilibrium. The second point of interest in connexion with the scheme is that the plans for reorganisation are not being forced upon the industry from without, but are the industry's own proposals. In April, 1932, the Import Duties Advisory Committee agreed that the British iron and steel trade should be protected from certain forms of foreign competition, but also made its opinion clear that tariffs alone would not restore the industry's prosperity. The need for some form of reorganisation was apparent. The industry itself then established a national committee, which in turn formed regional committees in Scotland, South Wales, on the northeast coast, and in the midlands, in consequence of which a scheme has been brought forward, and has been officially approved. It proposes the establishment of a group of associations which will encourage the concentration of production in the more efficient plants, and be able to negotiate agreements with producers abroad. This plan has the merit of not requiring any violent changes in the organisation of the industry. The suggested groups will be formed by amalgamating the fifty or more associations into which the trade is now divided, and they will be finally co-ordinated by an Iron and Steel Corporation of Great Britain. The whole scheme is recognised to be only the first step to recovery; but it is often the first step that is the most difficult.

Cleaning Cleopatra's Needle

It seems highly improbable that Egypt's famous Queen had any very intimate acquaintance with so housewifely an object as a needle. The arduous occupation of gracefully reclining on silken cushions on golden-bannered royal barges was rather more to her liking than plain or even fancy sewing. The only possible reason, therefore, for so naming the ancient obelisk that adorns the Thames Embankment, in London, evidently resides in the fact that it has a point at one end and once stood in Alexandria where Cleopatra held her court. It was there long before she saw it; indeed, it already possessed quite a respectable claim to antiquity, having been originally set up in Heliopolis by Pharaoh Thothmes III in 1442 B. C., only being transferred to Alexandria in 13 B. C. by Caesar Augustus to adorn the Caesareum there. Now, the needle needs polishing, according to a correspondent of the London Observer. The "grime and filth" of cockney "civilisation" have caked the fine pink granite of the single-toned shaft so that none may read the lavish encomiums which the shrinking Thothmes bestowed upon his personal prowess. At least, the writer pleads, if the monument to the doughty old warrior had to be wrenched from its natural habitat in Egypt, Londoners might at least make the effort to keep it fairly clean. It does seem that thirty-three centuries of service give Cleopatra's Needle a right to receive in the land of its ex-patriation the Order of the Bath.

STATE'S SEARCHLIGHT ON WALL ST. BANKERS

DILLON—THE MAN WHO WILL NEVER REALISE AMBITION

By WILLIS THORNTON

Clarence Dillon

Jamin J. Buttonwieser, Elisha Walker and Hugh Knowlton.

LEE, HIGGINSON & CO.

Important directorates held by these partners include the International Acceptance Bank, American Securities, the Manhattan Co., Los Angeles and Salt Lake R'y (2), Fleischman-Morris, General American Tank Car, Susquehanna & N. Y. Railroad, U. S. Leather, U. S. Rubber (2), National Railways of Mexico, Paramount-Public (2), Chemical Bank and Trust, Western Union, Pan-American Petroleum, International Mercantile Marine Petroleum Corporation, and Sinclair Consolidated Oil.

Perhaps the most impressive banking house in the Wall Street area is the magnificent new home of Lee, Higginson & Co., a dream in marble of what a banking room might be. This is a Boston firm which goes back to 1848, for 78 years operated from a single location in State Street. There are 16 partners, headed by George C. Lee, and the foreign setup is identical with that of the House of Morgan, including the London house of Higginson & Co., and the Paris house of Lee, Higginson & Co.

It has an apparently dependent incorporated branch, the Lee, Higginson Trust Co., incorporated in 1927 under Massachusetts law to do a "general banking and trust business." This had, in 1931, not quite nine millions in deposits, which is of course, no measure of the influence of Lee, Higginson & Co. itself.

This firm has distributed upwards of a billion dollars in securities, and was recently in the public eye as American bankers for Ivar Kreuger. It was a Lee, Higginson employee who caught the Kreuger errors that led to his downfall and suicide. It recently formed a new securities affiliate, the Lee, Higginson Corporation, with capital subscribed outside the partnership, the latter remaining with its assets intact. Lee, Higginson has acted as banker for many utility companies, including Puget Sound Power & Light, Savannah Electric & Power, Houston Electric, Dallas Light & Power, Montana Power, and also such general firms as Budd Wheel, By-Products Coke, U. S. Smelting, Fairbanks Morse, (Continued on Page 5.)

The Very Idea!

RANDOM RAMBLINGS

By Eddie Kelly, Half Wit.

AFTER tearing our hair for two hours, twenty-eight minutes, and fifty-nine seconds, trying to think up some subject to pass on to our unappreciative public to-day, we have decided to write about nothing at all.

THERE'S nothing funny about trying to write a funny column. You start off with a mind like the burial service, tear up reams and reams of paper and your hair, finally scream yourself hoarse over a particularly witty simile you've managed to think out, take it in to the Editor, and watch him anxiously while he reads it.

Editors are like that. We've had so many knocks on the chin from our Editor that we'd have been knocked flat ages ago if it wasn't for the fact that we get so many kicks in the pants.

Why, we've got so many kicks in the pants that our Editor doesn't scratch matches on the sole of his shoe any longer, because it tears holes in his socks.

Editors who never use blue pencils are about as rare as a Scotsman who throws the cork into the waste paper basket when he opens a bottle of whisky for his guests.

Speaking of life! How quickly the little ones grow up.

It seems as if you no sooner get through sitting up with them than you're sitting up for them.

If they're women they absorb most of the flattery in this world. The rest goes on tombstones. But that's life.

Which brings us to women. (Don't interrupt us!) This is a subject about which we know a lot.

We've loved many women in our time. They say that only women know the value of love, but men know what it costs, and when a man burns with love for a woman, he generally makes a fool of himself.

Especially in Hongkong, where they're apt to give themselves airs.

If you bask in the sunshine of the smile of some of the local gold-diggers you're apt to get sunburnt.

Other women in Hongkong are like hens. You know, the Kowloon hen and the Peak hen.

"They're selling my eggs for 35 cents a dozen this week," said the Kowloon hen.

"That's nothing," snuffed the Peak hen. "It costs 45 cents to buy mine."

"Huh," said the Kowloon hen. "I should strain myself for ten cents!"

BEAUTY AND FASHION.

[Orders executed in strict rotation. A full-sized photograph must accompany all inquiries.]

"My ears are very large, and at golf or tennis tend to flap. Is this, do you think, an attractive feature? And if not, what should I do about it?"—Budella.

Well, dear, tastes vary, and we can only speak for ourselves. You could wear a bonnet, you know (I with bugles), and if you are a "society girl" the notion might "catch on." Another idea would be to dress in such startling fashion (for example, in brown paper) that no one noticed your ears. Give my love to the other headaches won't you?

A DOUBLE EVENT.

A sweepstake within a sweepstake is the latest form of Free State enterprise. We recently received several books of tickets, posted in Birmingham, for a "Sweep" organised by an Irish holiday resort. Ticket-holders were entitled to participate in the great Dublin draw, the promoters of the resort sweep having secured a block of tickets in the Irish Hospitals Sweepstake. As the number of participants in the subsidiary sweep is unknown, investors (if any) need extra doses of faith and hope. The circular accompanying the books gives the name of the organising secretary as Fox. We at any rate, have no intention of figuring in a shelm of goose.

"PERFECT MAN"

WHAT HOLLYWOOD DEMANDS

WHAT A MAN!

Hollywood, California.

The "perfect man" has been evolved from a questionnaire circulated among 107 Hollywood chorus beauties. Harry Hershler, athletic trainer, 30 years old, 5 feet 11 inches tall, 178 pounds in weight, wavy brown hair and blue eyes.

None of the girls had seen such a man. They also specify that he must be wealthy and help to do his dishes; he may drink, smoke and swear in moderation, but must refrain from gambling, and, once he is married, he must not, by any means, put cigarette butts in his coffee cup.

A college education is not necessary. The ideal man must be smart dresser and good dancer, must wear glasses or sing in the tub. Snoring is tabooed. Better.

TO-DAY'S LEAGUE TENNIS GAMES

"C" DIV. PROGRAMME

84 PLAYERS TAKING PART

(By "Veritas")

Eighty four players will take part in league tennis
this afternoon, when the "C" Division season starts with fourteen of the fifteen clubs engaged.

The transfer of last year's four leading teams to the "B" Division has opened up new possibilities in the "C". Not only has it encouraged an entirely new C.R.C. side to enter, but new teams such as the Central British Association and the Kowloon Dock are taking part this summer.

EARLY MISFORTUNE.

The last named had hopes of turning out a very useful six, but misfortune has already attended
them, and they have to take the courts without the services of two of their leading players, G. Puncheon and Sonny Bliss.

Puncheon has decided to transfer his affections to the Hongkong Cricket Club, and Bliss is suffering from shoulder trouble, a legacy of the football season, which demands rest.

The great appeal of this division is that whereas for several years past it has been easy to select the
champions, the honours resting either between the C.R.C., South China or Recreation, this summer, with no South China team, and new
pairs representing both the C.R.C.
and Portuguese, anything might happen.

Teams like the Army Tennis Club, Hongkong Cricket Club, and Kowloon Cricket Club, with past experience of "C" Division tennis are just as likely to run for the leadership as either the C.R.C. or Recreation.

The Filipino Club have included
two new players in the brothers
S. A. and F. S. Hussain, who previously played for the Indian Recreation Club.
Terry Leonard is again turning out for the Club, and they expect to make a good showing at the Craigengower.

THE PROGRAMME.

The programme is:

Recreation v Radio S. C.
—at King's Park
H.K.C.C. v Police R. C.
—at H.K.C.C.
Craigengower v Filipino Club
—at Happy Valley
Civil Service v K.I.T.C.
—at Happy Valley
I.R.C. v C.B.A.
—at Sookunpoo
K.D.R.C. v A.T.C.
—at Hung Hom
Deutscher Klub v K.C.C.
—at King's Park

Some of the teams are:

K.C.C.:—G. A. White and R. S.
Capell; D. S. Green and A. E.
Collins; J. S. Smith and D. D.
McKay.

Craigengower:—H. J. Howard
and T. B. Allan; W. Read and Y.
C. Mok; F. A. Broadbridge and Wei Chung.

Civil Service:—G. Fowler and McDougal; Skinner and Bebbing-ton; Plicher and Edge.

H. K. C. C.:—J. B. Henry and
G. Puncheon; P. Berkitt and W.
Harris Walker; E. Owen and A.
W. Torrible.

Filipino Club:—Ribeiro and

Saleh; M. A. Khan and Firdos
Khan; Ahmed Khan and Midings.

MANCHUKUO BARRED FROM GAMES.

Representatives Ruled Out
of Olympics.

Geneva, May 31.
The League secretariat to-day circulated a revised version of the report on non-recognition of Manchukuo compiled by the sub-committee studying this problem which, condensed, is a repetition of the earlier report with one or two additions, relating to the non-admission of Manchukuo representatives in either
Olympic Games or Davis Cup matches.

There will be a meeting of the sub-committee on Thursday and it is expected that the report will be submitted at the plenary meeting of the Advisory Committee next week.

BOUSSUS BEATS SHIELDS

MAGNIFICENT TENNIS

RESULTS IN FRENCH CHAMPIONSHIPS

Paris, May 31.
Christian Boussus, candidate
for French Davis Cup honours
this year, gained a brilliant success in the fourth round of the French championship to-day
when he beat Frank X. Shields, national ranking American star,
and finalist at Wimbledon in 1931 in four sets.

Boussus, who has always been seen at his best at Auteil, being finalist in 1931, walked away with

F. X. SHIELDS.

the match. He brought his fast
sliced forehand shot to Shield's backhand into active play and had the American embarrassed the
whole time.

After winning the first two sets,
at 6-3, 6-2, Boussus eased up, conceded the third without making an effort, but returned in the fourth
to call the tune and to obtain the set at 6-4.

The Frenchman was always master of the situation and kept Shields well subdued.

FRED AND BETTY.

Fred Perry and Betty Nuthall came a cropper in the final
of the Mixed Doubles, when the superior team work of Jack Crawford of Australia and Miss
Scriven, one of the England's most improved lady players, won
the day.

Crawford and his partner won in straight sets, and held the whip
hand throughout.

MEN'S SINGLES.

(Fourth Round)

C. Boussus France beat F. X.
Shields (U.S.A.) 6-3, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4.

MIXED DOUBLES FINAL.
J. Crawford and Miss Scriven beat F. Perry and Miss Nuttall 6-2, 6-3.

LEAVING TO-DAY.

Filipino Tennis Players
Due On Saturday.

Definite information has been received from Manila of the departure of the two Filipino tennis players who are to visit the Colony on a tour of the Far East where exhibition
matches are being arranged for them.
Davis and Paulsen, the two ex-ponents of Manila, were originally expected on Sunday last. When they failed to arrive it was thought they would be aboard the Empress of Russia which docked yesterday morning, but again the local organisers were disappointed.

Mr. L. R. Hidofozo, who is making arrangements for the players during their visit to the Colony, cabled to Manila yesterday and received a reply to the effect that the two men will be leaving Manila by the General For-shing to-day. They are due to arrive in Hongkong on Saturday.

J. C. BROWN.

LOCAL BOWLS RECORD

J. C. BROWN WINS
21 to 1

F. WORMINGTON
SCORES FIRST

Bowls history was made in Hongkong yesterday when, in the first round of the Open Singles Championship, J. C.
Brown, the Kowloon Dock skip defeated F. Wormington of the Hongkong Electric by 21
shots to one.

Wormington scored his single on the first head, and thereafter
held a watching brief while Brown helped himself to a four, a couple
of threes and a series of twos and singles with which he went out to secure match point.

Brown was unapproachable.
He lay with deadly accuracy and
when wicks or drives were required produced them with equal facility. Wormington was given no chance of displaying his powers being completely overshadowed by the remarkable consistency of the ex-Interporter.

DRAKE'S RECOVERY.

J. Chadwick, the K.C.C. representative accomplished an excellent performance in beating W. S.
Drake, although he was a trifle lucky to enjoy a margin of five shots.

After establishing an early lead,
Chadwick allowed Drake to catch up from 20-10 to 20-16. Drake was then playing fine bowls and lay three, but Chadwick, with a carrying wood, took the jack and placed it on to a wide wood for shot and match.

TO-DAY'S MATCHES.

Two matches will be played this afternoon on the Kowloon
Cricket Club green.

F. Xavier of the Recreation opposes
G. N. Mitchell, the Kowloon Dock player, and J. M. M. Alves, another Recreation representative, meets J. M. Ramsay, also of the Kowloon Dock Club.

Re-arranged ties for next week
are:

TUESDAY, JUNE 6.

J. F. Lunney v F. B. Ribeiro
(at Civil Service)

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 7.

V. Petherick v H. Hampton
R. Hall v J. S. Houghton
(at Club de Recreation)

YANKEES LOSE AND WIN

LUSTY HITTING BY SENATORS

THREE BASEBALL MATCHES

Washington, May 31.
The New York Yankees played an important double header with the Washington Senators to-day, losing the first game and winning the second.

The Yankees' pitchers were harshly treated in the initial meet, the Senators rattling up a dozen runs.

Rain stopped two matches in the American League, but Chicago found it possible to beat Pittsburgh.

Scores as cabled by Reuter

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

	R.	H.	E.
Pittsburgh	1	10	3
Chicago	6	7	0

Philadelphia v Boston and New York v Brooklyn postponed on account of rain.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Hyperion Wins the Derby

London, May 31.
The 160th running of the Epsom Derby to-day saw the pounding thoroughbreds placed in the following order at the finish:

HYPERION (Weston)	1
KING SALMON (Harry Wragg)	2
STATESMAN (Careslake)	3
SCARLET TIGER (A. Wragg)	4

Betting: 6/1 Hyperion; 7/1
King Salmon; 20/1 Statesman.
Won by four lengths, one length separating the second and third horses.

Twenty-four horses ran.
Manitoba had been the favourite in the betting and last minute changes of odds did not materially affect the odds on Thrapston and Interlace, the former having Steve Donoghue for a pilot and the latter Smith.

When the field sorted itself out,
Hyperion was lying second. This position the winner held for almost the whole distance until the final plunge down the stretch,
when he easily overhauled the leader and finished with plenty of room to spare.

Hyperion won in the record time
2 minutes 34 seconds.

Thrapston made the running, with Steve Donoghue up, after a good start from Young Lover, Coronado, Manitoba, Light Sussex and Hyperion.
Thrapston still led at Tattenham
Corner but Hyperion raced to the front into the straight and won easily.
Manitoba finished well in the rear.
His Majesty the King and members
of The Royal Family were present,
with an enormous crowd.

The weather was perfect.—Reuter.
The owners of King Salmon and Statesman are Sir Cuthbert Owen
and Mr. V. Emanuel.

The "Also-Rans."

The following were the additional starters:—
Solar Boy (Collins)
Interlace (Smith)
Felicitation (Elliot)
Gino (Beary)
Franz Hals (T. Burns)
Happy Call (Gothin)
Raymond (Nicol)
Myosotis (Jones)
Caymanas (Lane)
Manitoba (Gordon Richards)
Madagascar (Bartlam)
Blue Grass (Fox)
Lover's Walk (Childs)
Thrapston (Steve Donoghue)
Melfort (Johnston)
Coronado (McGuigan)
Tuppence (Harry Beasley)
Harlequin (Ray)
Young Lover (Perryman)

HONGKONG WINNERS.

Dublin, May 31.
Further winners of $100 prizes in the Irish Sweep are as follows:
Li Sul-wing, of Davle, Bang and Co., Hongkong; Lucien Antenor, Institution of Engineers, Hongkong; A. E. Yeapp, care of K. E.
Lee, 48 Rue Chaligneau, Saigon, and S. T. Mann, Saigon.—Reuter.

POET PREACHER HAS VISIONWHAT'S WRONG WITH THE WORLD

Dr. Elvet Lewis, the poet preacher, who is occupying this year the chair of the Congregational Union, was honoured in two ways when he delivered his address.

Right to the end of the gallery every seat in the City Temple was occupied. Further, the address was broadcast because people in the Welsh valleys wished to listen-in.

Owing to blindness Dr. Lewis could not read his address and for 40 minutes delivered it in his musical Welsh voice without a single aid to the memory.

His epilogue told hearers that the subject—Jesus Christ, the One Lord—arose out of a day-dream during a period of indisposition last October, when he became conscious of the presence of those who had helped him most—companions of the quiet hour.

Whether he was in the higher realms of imagination or on the border-line of slumber he could not say, but he was confronted with the question: "If you spent a season with one of the noblest souls of all time, whom would you choose?"

Dr. Elvet Lewis said that after the vision, which he pictured vividly, he felt that he had to put the question to himself and the Assembly—"Where does Jesus Christ come in?"

NEED FOR HUMILITY.

Points from his address were: In our approach to the pure mysteries of religion the first essential preparation is to put on the garb of humility.

Humility is hard for the heart and still harder for the intellect—and perhaps never harder than to-day when the achievements of the mind in science and invention are so thrilling.

To be humble seems an anachronism—something out of due time, a discredited moral relic. That is but the loss of balance which always comes with fresh surprises of time.

Are we not suffering to-day from the partial displacement of our One Lord? We rightly view with concern the vastness of the ministry; we are still more gravely disturbed by unspiritual church meetings and ungenerous correspondence.

CHURCH FUSIONS.

The Rev. J. D. Jones was re-elected hon. secretary, the Rev. S. M. Berry, secretary, and Sir R. Murray Hyslop, treasurer.

Dr. Berry, referring to the question of Christian unity, said they kept in view the possibility of larger groupings.

"But," he added, "our first task is to set our own house in order and to strengthen and emphasise the distinctive things in our own Congregationalism. We are not out to join with any body at any price."

Two committees were appointed to consider further the question of closer relationships with the Baptist Union and with the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Churches of England respectively.

Unemployment was the subject of a special resolution successfully moved by the Rev. H. Parnaby, of Portsmouth.

This expressed the conviction that "the triumphs of modern invention and the vastly increased productivity of Nature are gifts of God and ought to result in a rising standard of life and a more abundant leisure for the impoverished classes in the community," and called upon all Christian people to seek "this just and possible result by a more definite application of the principles of Christ to the production and distribution and consumption of wealth."

LATEST LUXURY
LINERTOO BIG TO GET OUT OF DOCK

Paris. So large is the new French luxury liner "Normandie" that she cannot get out of the port of St. Nazaire with the quays arranged as they are at present.

The Chamber of Commerce has therefore decided to raise a loan of 10,000,000 francs to defray the cost of re-arranging the wharfs so that the "Normandie" can enter and leave the port.

The "Normandie," which is nearly 20,000 tons gross larger than the largest liner afloat, was launched at St. Nazaire on October 29 last. She has a displacement of 70,000 tons and an estimated speed of 30 knots. Her length is 1,027 feet

REAL INVENTOR OF ENGINESCORNISHMAN TAKES PRIDE OF PLACE

A CENTENARY

London.

If you want to annoy a Cornishman, mention casually that Stevenson invented railway engines.

"Never!" your Cornish friend will reply. "Trevithick was the real father of the steam locomotive."

And it is to this neglected genius, who died in poverty, that British engineers are paid tribute this year, a century after he died.

Richard Trevithick designed the first practicable steam road carriage and the first railway locomotive, and he foresaw the great possibilities of a mechanised agriculture.

Until he began his experiments, engines had been worked on the low pressure, or atmospheric, principle. This involved the use of a condenser and a steam pressure which rarely exceeded four or five pounds to the square inch.

Trevithick eliminated the condenser and increased the pressure to between 80 and 100 pounds. In this way he produced a portable engine.

On Christmas Eve, 1801, his road carriage carried the first load of passengers ever conveyed by steam, and in 1803 he created a sensation by running another of his carriages through the streets of London.

CIRCULAR RAILWAY.

In 1808 he again added to the gaiety of London. This time he built a circular railway near the new highway, now called Euston Road, and thrilled the public by rushing them round at a speed varying between twelve and fifteen miles an hour.

But he foresaw other possibilities than transport for his invention. He used it for boring and breaking rock, and for dredging, and he entered into a contract to lift ballast from the bed of the Thames. He said he could raise 500,000 tons a year.

Even that did not exhaust his inventive enthusiasm. He built a threshing machine and in 1812 he told the Board of Agriculture that if they used steam in all the phases of agriculture they would double the population of the country and make our market the cheapest in the world.

On returning to England in 1827 from South America, where he had been engaged in mine prospecting, he unsuccessfully petitioned Parliament for a reward for his inventions, and six years later, on April 22, 1833, he died at Dartford—peniless.—Reuter.

UNIVERSE PEOPLED WITH SOULS

DEAN INGE'S BELIEF

There may be (and I do not doubt there are) an immense number of souls in the universe, some of them nearer to the divine life than we are.

This is the belief of Dean Inge. It was expressed when he delivered the Warburton Lecture from the pulpit of Lincoln's Inn Chapel. The Dean also said:

"I do not think we need follow Fechner in believing that every heavenly body has a soul of its own. But I would rather be a star worshipper than believe with Hegel that the starry heavens have no more significance than a rash on the sky or a swarm of flies."

In the equally difficult problem as to survival in the literal sense our whole position in regard to time was involved.

The revival of so-called spiritualism and the cult of necromancy among masses of the half-educated showed how very crude were the notions of a "future life" among many who did not reject the idea altogether. Faith in human immortality stood or fell with the belief in God.

837 COILS—each in an individual muslin pocket—give instantaneous adjustment to the slightest movement. No other mattress has the same construction as the BEAUTYREST.

Sleep as You Have Never Slept on SIMMONS Beautyrest

A good night's rest brings you a mysterious glowing something no beauty aide can match. Takes away every trace of fatigue from a woman's face.

But—a night of only part-way resting sleep leaves on your face lines you cannot hide.

Science says that really rejuvenating sleep comes only when every nerve and muscle can relax.

A lumpy mattress or a sagging one cannot give it to you. You may not realize the difference. But surely and steadily that difference is being written on your face.

There is a mattress that gives you this deep rejuvenating sleep—the Simmons BEAUTYREST.

All through this famous mattress are tiny coils of finely tempered steel, 837 of them. Each in its individual muslin pocket. They buoy you up. You feel no restriction. You can turn in your sleep without knowing it! Every inch of you gets gloriously relaxed!

Don't let another day go by without your feeling this famous mattress.

LOVE OR MONEY?

some time. But not now!"

"Why not?" His voice was harsh. "Is it because you want to enjoy your fortune a little longer? Mona, can't you take me as I am with what I have to give you? Isn't that enough?"

"Do you own half the mine, Barry?" she asked deliberately.

He considered this. "No," he said, "but what has that to do with it? I'm not starving. You wouldn't starve as my wife. You wouldn't starve as my wife."

"Do you own Holiday?"

"Part of it. Holiday is figured in with the rest of the property. Steve owns more than half. I thought I explained that. The sale of the Empress clinched things. For a while—at least until I'm 30—I'm rather in Steve's stewardship, so to speak. He has more power in any measure than I have but that doesn't mean anything because it's Steve's. It isn't as though he'd ever try to do anything I didn't approve."

"If Steve should die to-morrow," Mona said slowly, "the mine would belong—more than half of it and more than half of Holiday—to his heirs. Have you thought of that?"

Barry pressed his face down on her shoulder. He said slowly, "Why think of death now when we can think of each other?"

"You see, Barry, if I don't marry you right off perhaps I can think of a way to help you!"

"So that's your plan?" Barry's voice rose in dismay and disdain. "Do you think I'd let you help me, Mona? Do you think I'd take a cent of that money—?"

"Why not?"

"Because I couldn't! Mona, Mona, forget all this! What do you care for money? We have enough. Do I look so poor? Let the money go to the cat hospital or whatever he wanted it to go to and marry me!"

There was a rustle in the shrubbery close by. Then a shadow flung itself across the sand at their feet and separated from the clump of trees as if torn away by someone's hands.

"So this is where you are, Mona! Why didn't you tell me? I went into your room for some water—my thermos was empty—and couldn't find you. I was worried stiff! You know those snakes—oh, Barry! Well, thank goodness, I didn't have the fire department out!"

"Wait Lottie, I'm coming," Mona rose from the sand and walked slowly toward the girl in the pathway.

"Say, I don't want to interrupt anything—" Lottie began uncertainly.

"We've finished talking," Mona assured her.

"Are you sure there isn't anything more to say?" asked Barry.

"We'll talk it over in the morning, Barry."

"There's nothing to talk over. You can simply say 'yes' or 'no.' Lottie interposed cheerfully,

LITTLE ENTENTE PREPARED TO ACCEPT

Prague, May 31.

The Permanent Council of the Little Entente announces that it is prepared to accept the French version of the Four Power Pact, in view of the fact that the signatories are prepared to guarantee limitation in the range of its action, continuance of the competence of the League and the unanimous application of Article 19, plus a formal French guarantee against all revision based on previous engagements.—Reuter Special.

AERIAL BOMBING.

Lansbury's Plea For Reconsideration.

BRITISH POLICY.

London, May 31.

In the House of Commons to-day, Mr. Lansbury made a vigorous plea for the Government to reconsider its decision to retain aerial bombardment for police purposes in certain outlying regions, as announced by Sir John Simon at the Disarmament Conference.

Mr. Lansbury asked whether the Government's attitude allowed no further consideration, even if it meant the wrecking of the Disarmament Conference.

Mr. Baldwin replied that the Government had decided on this policy, after full consideration and the decision had been communicated to the House of Commons last November.

Mr. Baldwin deprecated the suggestion that this decision might wreck the conference.—Reuter Special.

"Say yes or no, Mona, to-night!"

"Do you mean that?"

He nodded seriously. "I do."

CINEMA SCREENINGS.

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

A classic in double-crossing! Screen history, no doubt, will confer that mark of fame on the stirring plot of "Men of Chance" showing at the Central Theatre to-morrow.

In the beginning a French detective, played by Andre Cheron, wins the confidence of "Martha" played by Mary Astor, then double-crosses her and takes her to the station.

Don Juan, in the person of John Halliday, appears and pays the fine with an altruistic flourish, then promptly double-crosses her by making her an innocent member of his confidential gang.

She, posing as a countess, makes love to a millionaire gambler, enacted by Ricardo Cortez. The latter humbly submits to her double-crossing and marries her.

When the husband discovers he has been double-crossed, that his wife has assisted a rival race clique in double-crossing him, he leaves her.

In order to regain the husband's love and respect, the ex-wife double-crosses her old gang and even the score against her husband.

"Man About Town"

"Man About Town", the Fox production in which Warner Baxter portrays the role of a lover involved in the international intrigue of the nation's capital, comes to the King's Theatre next change.

The story deals with the friendship of two men, the lies of which are broken when a woman comes into their lives. It leads to jealousy, hatred, romance and tragedy, but, in the end, the men again become friends and both defend the woman when she becomes involved in a murder. The action is said to maintain the spirit of the national capital with a tempo that is swift and sensational.

Karen Morley, recently a sensation in "Scarface" and "Arson Lupin", portrays the leading feminine role.

"Men Must Fight"

A film drama that entertains and at the same time stimulates feeling and thought is "Men Must Fight" which opens on Sunday at the Queen's Theatre. It is one of the most unusual pictures the screen has seen for it depicts the country on the verge of a war in 1940. The settings, the costumes, the sentiment are those of future years.

From the standpoint of acting and direction the picture is exceptional. Few screen plays can boast a cast of such varied talents as that presented by Dian Wynyard, the English actress who scored in "Rasputin and the Empress" and "Cavalcade"; the veteran character star, Lewis Stone; Phillips Holmes of "American Tragedy" fame; Mary Robson, Ruth Selwyn, Robert Young, Robert Greig, Hedda Hopper, Donald Dillaway, Mary

MORE "ENERGY" DISCOVEREDEQUIVALENT TO 60 MEN

Atlanta, Georgia.

The energy-equivalent of 60 men is at work for every man, woman, and child in the United States estimates the President of the American Chemical Society and head of the chemistry department at Harvard University.

He said there has been a temporary "lack of balance" between production and consumption at various times in the past as the result of technical developments but that in every case a new balance has been struck subsequently at a higher level.

The present situation, he said, is different from those of the past in extent rather than in nature.

It really dates back to the discovery of steam power a little over a hundred years ago. During that time, he said, man's available energy has been multiplied by approximately 25, as against multiplication by only a small fraction more than two in the preceding 42,000 years.—Reuter.

Carlisle and Luis Alberni, all of whom excel in roles which afford leeway for dramatic fireworks.

"Madison Square Garden"

It's almost a career that William Collier, Sr., veteran actor, has made out of being superstitious. Collier, featured with Jack Oakie, Thomas Meighan, Marian Nixon, Warren Hymer, William Boyd, and ZaSu Pitts in "Madison Square Garden," drama set against the background of the famous Manhattan institution, claims to be the most superstitious actor on record. He not only believes in all the standard superstitions, but goes to the trouble of inventing new ones to worry about.

He wouldn't whistle in his dressing room or walk under a ladder for a right shoe on first. He has worn out the lapsels of innumerable suits by sticking into them pins he picks up.

He always knocks wood before stepping on the stage. He has smoked the same brand of cigarettes for the last 20 years because he is afraid if he changed, he might contract smoker's heart. He refuses to start a new picture on a Friday or to move out or into a new dressing room on that day.

And if someone should accidentally lay his hat on a bed, his whole day would be completely ruined.

KULING SECRETS.

CHINESE GOVERNMENT
FIXES POLICY

Nanking, May 31.

The press ban has been finally lifted over the Kuling Political Conference with General Chiang Kai-shek, Wang Ching-wei, Lo Wen-kun, Sun Fo, Admiral Chen Shao-kuan and Mr. Wang Shih-chieh participating. The Conference broke up yesterday and the leaders, with the exception of General Chiang, are returning to the capital.

Although details of the Conference have not been divulged as yet, it is understood that the North China situation and the Sino-Japanese truce were discussed and the Chinese Government's final decision has been reached as a result of the Conference.

Huang's Report.

General Huang Shao-hsiung, Minister of Interior, arrived in Kuling late on the night of May 29 from Peking to report on the latest truce negotiations.

Wang Ching-wei and the other leaders left Kuling yesterday morning at 8 o'clock for Nanking aboard the gunboat Chu-yu and General Chiang Kai-shek personally saw the party off.

In view of the Communist situation which is still fraught with possibilities, and which still demands the presence of the Generalissimo in Kiangsi, General Chiang is remaining in that province.

It is expected that as soon as Wang Ching-wei arrives to-day, the President of the Executive Yuan will report the decisions arrived at, at the Kuling Conference to the other government leaders here. It is not yet known, however, whether he will make a public statement.—Reuter.

No Postponement

Nanking, May 31. The usual weekly meeting of the Executive Yuan to-day was postponed owing to the lack of a quorum, most of the Ministers having gone to Nanchang to see General Chiang Kai-shek regarding the situation in North China.

In an interview, Mr. Chen Kung-po, Minister of Industry, declared that the postponement of the Special Kuomintang Congress till October 1 had not been considered as reported.—Reuter.

EUROPE'S NEW OPIUM TRAFFIC CENTRE

STARTLING REVELATIONS BY RUSSELL PASHA

Factories working at full steam in Bulgaria

The great drug trafficking interests which carry on illicit trade from country to country have been crippled in Turkey—but have raised their heads again in the Balkans.

They have quailed before the iron rule of Mustafa Kemal Pasha, the mighty "Victor". His stringent measures to stop the making and selling of drugs in Turkey are "the greatest national contribution to the solution of the whole drug problem that has yet been made".

But the makers and sellers of "dope" are not defeated. They have created a new centre for the manufacture and illicit export of drugs—in Bulgaria.

This is revealed by Russell Pasha, the famous British Director of the Central Narcotics Intelligence Bureau and Commandant of the Cairo City Police.

MEDICINE & SCIENCE ONLY.

Russell Pasha, who is one of the most romantic figures of modern times, describes in a graphic report the endless fight against the drug traffic, the ramifications of international gangs, and the wiles of traffickers.

Russell Pasha records that "Turkey has not merely been content with closing down these factories (on the Bosphorus) but has decided to join battle with the illicit traffic by limiting the needs of medicine and science. The Ghazi has by a stroke of the pen dealt a staggering blow to the illicit drug traffic".

So the next round of the unending fight begins. Russell Pasha is beginning a new campaign—this time directed against the Bulgarian Government.

"I am definitely able to state that the European centre for the manufacture of heroin destined entirely for the illicit trade has now shifted from Istanbul to the capital city of Bulgaria, Sofia."

Factories at work.

These words appear in the introduction, and in the body of the report it is stated that "The factories (in Bulgaria) are working perfectly openly with no attempt at concealment".

"It is said that there are nine factories now working in Bulgaria," the Pasha continues: "my information gives me four, of which the most important is at Radomir near Sofia."

"This Radomir factory started work at the beginning of October and in the first two months turned out about 1,600 kilograms of heroin all of which was smuggled out of the country in double-bottomed trunks into Germany and France on route principally for Hamburg for the American market and Marseilles for Egypt and the Far East." This output is sufficient to supply 187,000,000 medical "shots" of heroin per month—or a double dose for 3,000,000 dope addicts per day.

The three principal lines for the "run out" are stated to be:

1. Vienna, Marseilles, Berlin and Hamburg for America and the Far East.
2. Nish, Salonika, Athens and Cyprus for Egypt.
3. Salonika, Istanbul and Smyrna for Egypt.

Valuable find.

The finding of a code book and a pocket book in the baggage of a man which was searched by the Alexandria Customs is described in the report.

"The pocket book," it says, "was a perfect 'Who's Who' to the contraband trade and gave the key to the inverted code which he was using in his telegrams," while the code contained all phrases which might be required in the gang's operations dealing with shipping, financing, and the goods in which drugs could be concealed.

"For the first time, in the history of narcotics investigation," the report remarks, "we are given an authentic guide-book to the inner circles of the illicit dope trade."

Defeating officials.

The report goes on to reveal ways in which attempts have been made to get drugs past the eyes of the officials. Some of these are:

Concealment of a bottle of cocaine in the watch pocket of a man's trousers.

Hashish placed in the double bottom of a basket containing grapes.

Hiding of hashish among olives.

Smuggling hashish in the axle-box of a Palestine Railway train.

Hollow tubes in brass bedsteads in which heroin was placed.

A small piece of hair was clipped out of a camel's coat between the hump and the flank and fixed with glue on to the side of a slab of hashish, which was then stuck in the place where the hair had originally been.

A note on "Drug Addicts and Drug Addiction" is added by Dr. H. W. Dudgeon, Director of the Lunacy Division.

Hospitals overcrowded.

He relates that nearly 500 addicts received free treatment after it had been decided to admit such cases on their personal request even to the extent of overcrowding the hospitals, and that Khanka hospital should take all the non-paying cases.

"It is regretted," he says, "that the experiment in so far as curing addiction is concerned, is a failure. It is feared that the only radical cure for addiction is to improve the moral sense of the individual. In the meantime the only hope is to make access to drugs very difficult and their possession as unpleasant as possible."

Officers of the Narcotic Bureau are stated by the report to meet with increasing difficulty in arresting traffickers—a proof of the "salutary effect" of the severe penalties now inflicted in Egypt.

Upper Egypt "toughs."

In one case an agent of the bureau got in touch with an important band of hashish dealers composed principally of "toughs" from Upper Egypt.

He asked to see what goods they had for sale, and was shown them—but only in a lonely spot and when surrounded by 20 of the "toughs" armed with stout clubs. He was told that all transactions would take place under similar conditions.

Pertinent questions.

It is the question which inevitably rises in the mind of every reader of the report. And Russell Pasha answers that the narcotic police can only triumph when the Powers of the World combine.

"Are civilised countries agreed or are they not that narcotic traffic is a world menace?" he demands. "Ask them individually and they can only answer

CHURCHES NOT CABS

CHIEF INTEREST OF
JOHN HANSOM

London.

You may still sometimes see a hansom cab driving along the London streets, relic of the gay days of the "naughty nineties," of young "blooms" with flowing whiskers, of the days of top hats and tight trousers.

In 1886 there were more than seven thousand hansoms licensed; to-day there are four—and they are not often in evidence except on such occasions as Boat Race night, or Cup-final day.

It was not cabs, however, but churches which formed the main interest in the life of John Hansom, the man who invented this famous type of cab 100 years ago, for he was an ecclesiastical architect and won a high reputation as a designer of Roman Catholic Churches. Plymouth Cathedral is his work.

So, like many another inventor, Hansom received little money from the design of his "patent safety cab." He sold the patent to a company for £10,000, but he received none of this money, for after acting as manager of the firm for only a short time, he left to carry on with his architectural work. After his resignation the company was less successful and he returned to it and once more its prosperity returned with him. For this he received £300—all that he made out of his invention.—Reuter.

ENGINES WITH A MILEAGE

SOUTH AUSTRALIAN RAILWAYS RECORDS

Sydney, N.S.W.

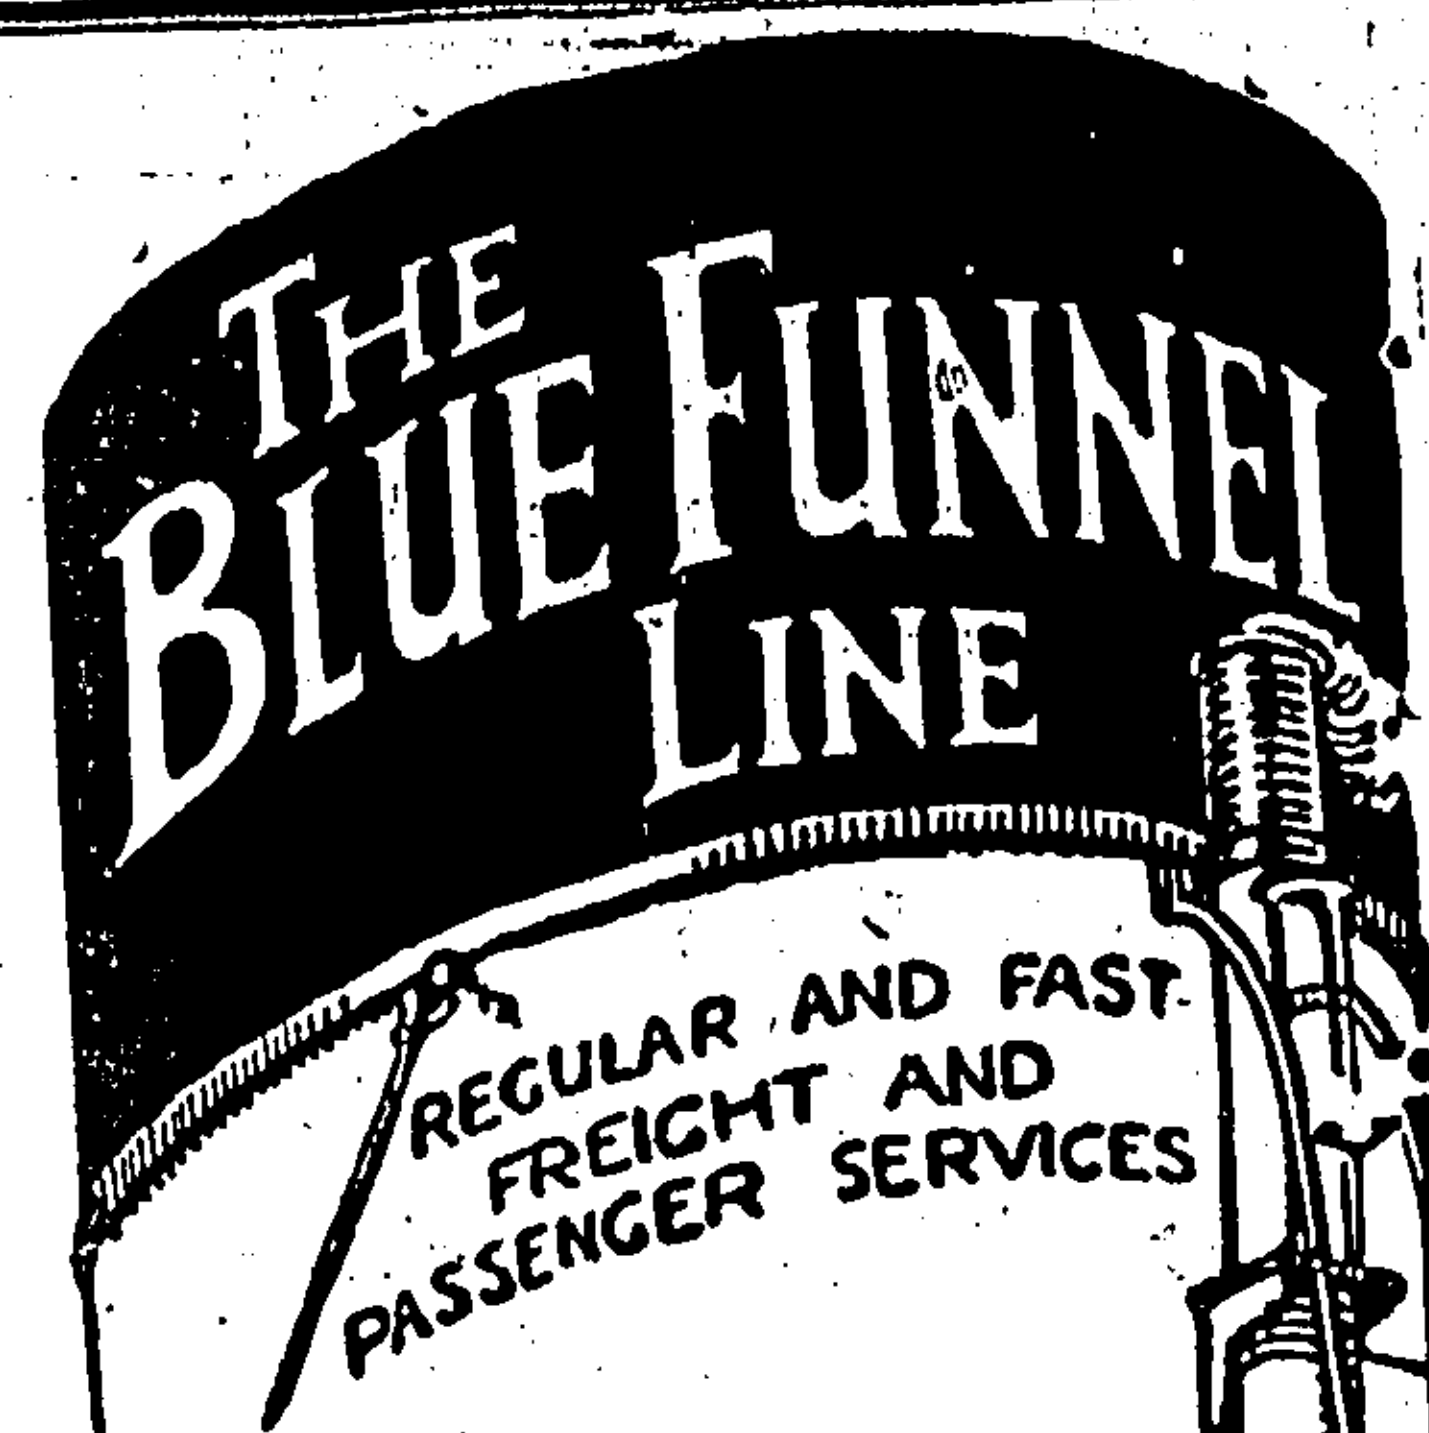

Motorists boast about the mileage their cars have run, but the distances quoted are small compared with some records of locomotives still running on the South Australian Railways. The best is that of No. 129 class F, which has covered 1,213,308 miles since it was first issued to traffic on April 7, 1894.

The oldest engine still in service on main line traffic is No. 34 Class K, which has been operating for 54 years, and is now stationed in the Murray Bridge division. It has run 1,072,798 miles. Of the big engines introduced by Mr. W. A. Webb, when Commissioner, the Pacific type, No. 604, has covered the greatest distance namely, 264,913 miles. This engine has been running since August, 1926, and frequently hauls the Melbourne express between the Murray and the Victorian order.

Although the locomotives speed on steel tyres, these metal wheels have to be replaced, for they wear in time. This wear varies according to the type of engine and class of service run—from 14 months to five years, and from 28,000 to 261,000 miles. Sandy conditions, together with operation on light, narrow rails, produces a maximum wear on tyres.—Reuter.

yes. Why then will they not combine and classify narcotic trafficking as an international crime?"

"If we mean what we say let us fight the traffickers with their own weapons. They are internationalised, let us do the same."—Reuter.

BIG GAOL BREAK

Lansing, (Kansas), May 31.
Military aeroplanes are hunting for 11 desperate convicts who escaped from the State Penitentiary, carrying as hostages three women, the Governor of the prison and two guards.

The hostages were used by the convicts as human shields to ward off the bullets of the pursuing police.

In making their escape, the convicts overpowered the Governor and two guards, and bundled them into a car. At pistol point they made the Governor order the opening of the prison gates.

The Governor and guards were later released.

A large force of warders are at present journeying to Picher, Oklahoma, where the convicts are believed to be hiding.

Later.
The two seventeen-year-old girls and the paralysed woman who were held as hostages by the convicts who broke from the Lansing Prison, have been released and are safe.—Reuter Special.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

There is no doubt but that the bidding in contract provides and produces most of the thrills. But what is the use of good bidding unless it is combined with fine play?

Again, if you find a pair that bid a hand well, you must learn how to defend it properly or you have but little chance of defeating this pair. Therefore, when on the defensive, play no card until you have given it some thought.

I want to call your attention to an interesting defensive play that came up in the following hand.

South, the dealer, while holding three tricks and a biddable heart suit, should not open the bidding, as there is no flexibility to the hand.

Possibly the best declaration for this type of hand would be no trump, but the hand is not

♠ K-Q-10-8-5-3-2	♥ 8	♦ 6-5-4	♣ K-J
♠ A-K-J-7	♥ 10-5	♦ 4-3-2	♣ 10-3-2
♠ K-J	♥ 4-3-2	♦ 10-3-2	♣ 6-5-4
♠ 4-3-2	♥ 7-3	♦ 7-3	♣ 6-5-4
♠ 9-6-4	♥ A-Q-9-6	♦ A-Q-8	♣ A-10-8-2

The Bidding

strong enough to make an original no trump bid in the constructive one over one system.

After the pass, West opened the bidding with one club. North bid one spade and East passed.

South now bid two hearts, West passed and North bid two spades. South, wishing to make another constructive bid, bid two no trump.

It is sound to reason that if North has any side strength, it must be in clubs. When North bid three spades, South went to four.

The Play

East's opening lead was the six of clubs, which West won with the ace. West returned a small club, which declarer won with the king.

The king of spades was won by West with the ace. He returned the queen of clubs, declarer trumping. The queen of spades picked up East's jack.

In order to make game, declarer can lose but one more trick. If he can find the king of diamonds and the king of hearts in the East hand, it will be easy, but the bidding indicates that West possibly holds them.

However, the declarer led the six of diamonds. A careless East player would allow the contract to be made.

You have heard an old auction rule which says "Second hand plays low." You must forget those auction tactics when playing contract and must stop to think before playing a card.

You know that the declarer still has four trump and three other cards. If you play a small

CHARMING AMATEURS AT THE KINGS

Months of careful training by the talented dancing teacher, Miss Violet Capell, gained the fruits of reward when her pupils presented a very successful display at the King's Theatre yesterday afternoon, before a crowded house. This was the tenth annual display, part of the proceeds of which are to be distributed to local charities and to the London Hospital.

His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Peel, and Lady Peel, under whose distinguished patronage the performance was given, were unfortunately unable to be present. Sir William being confined to bed with a chill and fever. H.E. and Lady Peel were represented by Capt. R. F. Walter, A.D.C.

PEERS SAVE THE CIRCUS

MONKEY'S WHISKY AND SODA

The circus has been saved. By two votes the House of Lords rejected a Bill which, if passed, would have prohibited performances by chimpanzees, lions, tigers and other big cats, bears and hyenas and, as Lord Jessel pointed out, would have deprived children of many of the delights of the travelling circus.

The debate centred on the old question: "Can these animals be trained by kindness?"

"No," said Lord Danesfort, the mover, Lord Kinnoull, the seconder, and Lord Banbury, who maintained that circus tricks were contrary to an animal's nature and must involve cruelty.

SLIMMING CRUELTY. On the other hand, Lord Carnock said that when people considered cruelty to animals they were apt to lose all sense of proportion.

"Film actors and actresses," he continued, "are forced to slim, and some people would say that this was a case of gross cruelty. It is, in fact, a painful business. I know, because I have tried it myself." (Laughter).

Experience showed that animals could be trained by kindness.

"I have got a chimpanzee to drink a whisky and soda, a thing I have done very easily myself. Many of your lordships have never done it. I have done it often." (Laughter).

Lord Lucan, remarking that the Home Office had no fresh evidence of cruelty since 1925, declared the Government's neutrality, and left the matter to a free vote of the House, with the result stated.

SPEAK UP ENGLAND!

PRESS-POWER TELLS THE WORLD

Prince Arthur of Connaught, in a speech recently, told how he enjoyed reading advertisements.

The occasion was the twenty-first anniversary banquet of the National Advertising Benevolent Society, and the place was the Guildhall, London.

"When there is a 'dearth of news,'" said Prince Arthur, "I turn to the advertisements with enjoyment, marvelling at the skill of wording and drawing and the originality of wit one often finds therein."

"I think," he added, "the newspaper publishers are very far-seeing people to reinforce the news interest of their columns by the aid to the 'reader-interest' which the advertising columns yield."

NEW AND HARDER WORLD.

Sir William Crawford, President of the Society, said that though it would be unwise for him to say that the depression was at an end, nobody could stop him from believing it.

"No one is better able to judge of this," he added, "than an advertising man. Advertising people see right into the heart of the business mechanism of the country. They see not one trade but many."

Other points from Sir William's speech were:

"If we are pulling through, it is because success is measured by power and influence, and not merely by wealth.

"One of the qualities I like so much about this country is its reticence in advertising. We are not a nation of high-powered salesmen. Excessive advertising and high-power salesmanship tend to destroy the individuality of the people."

"But we are faced to-day with a new and harder world. Silence may have been golden in the past—but the hour has come when England must speak up."

"In telling our own and other people of our ideals, our arts, our crafts, our goods and products, we are fortunate in possessing a medium of the printed speech which is the finest in the world. I mean, of course, our daily, weekly, Sunday and monthly press—beyond compare the world's best. From the columns of these papers we must drive home ever more deeply the merits of British merchandise."

"Advertising has the faculty of improving the quality of the goods whose merits it proclaims. It is not only a maker of trade, but it is also a critic of goods. It sets a standard. It insists on efficiency and quality. It is a protector and an insurance to the public."

"This year commodity prices may be more firmly raised and the volume greatly increased by international agreements. Tariffs also we may expect to see on a more equitable basis. But such arrangements will only make competition more severe and more open."

Mr. James Strong, the treasurer, announced that the total donations in connexion with the coming-of-age festival, including subscriptions of £1,000 during the dinner, amounted to £10,300.

SLIMMING —By a Peer NOT WORTH THE ORDEAL

Slimming is not worth while. That is the opinion of Lord Carnock, who made the House of Lords rock with laughter, when he revealed that he had found slimming a painful business.

There was malice in the laughter of the noble Lords—for Lord Carnock is a large man.

He told a reporter:

"To slim, one has to diet, and dieting is not pleasant. All starchy things, potatoes, sweets, puddings, butter, jam—in fact, all the things one really likes, have to be given up."

"I had a month of it once down at Tring. I had nothing to eat. That is, nothing but a spot of orange juice. I lost quite a lot of weight, but I put it all on again."

"DON'T MIND."

"There is no doubt that these diets would work if one could only keep it up. But I can't keep it up."

"The way I see it is, 'is it worth it?' If I were a jockey or a film star it might be. But I'm not. I don't really mind being fat."

"Of course, there are disadvantages. I can't take much exercise and I can't play polo. But if I was thin, no doubt I should have rheumatism or something. As one gets older (Lord Carnock is 50) one is bound to have something. I'm fat and that's the end of it."

TANGKU ARMISTICE AGREEMENT RUMOURS

Sharp Comment By Solicitor In Slander Case

STRANGE AFFAIR IN SHANGHAI

YOUNG MAN FOUND IN STREET

(Our Own Correspondent).

Shanghai, June 1.

Mystery surrounds the death this morning of Mr. L. M. Bell, an employee of the well-known firm of Mustard and Company.

He was found, badly injured, in a state of collapse on the Bund yesterday afternoon, lying near his motor-car.

Two foreigners who came along picked him up with the assistance of a Sikh policeman and took him to the nearest doctor, and later he was rushed to hospital, unconscious. He died early this morning.

NO STATEMENT.

The Sikh policeman failed to report the matter to headquarters and Bell, who was only thirty-two years of age, died without making any statement of how he came to be injured.

A wound was found in his chin.

DOCTORS PUZZLED.

The doctors are puzzled regarding the cause of death and are making a post-mortem examination. Enquiries are now proceeding in an effort to trace the two foreigners who picked him up.

Deceased was very well-known in Shanghai, being a member of the A.D.C. and a popular entertainer.—Our Own Correspondent.

Berlin, May 31.

A bill authorising the Finance Minister to issue bonds up to a value of a thousand million marks for financing the Government scheme for creating working, has been passed by the Cabinet.

The Bill was sponsored by Dr. Schacht, the President of the Reichsbank, who will deal with the financial part of the plan. This includes provision for repairs to public and private buildings, the erection of suburban garden cities, the creation of agricultural settlements and new roads throughout the country.

The Bill also provides for means of transferring women from business employment to households and encourages marriages by giving couples financial support.

It also encourages industry to increase production in order to frustrate dumping by countries with depreciated currencies.—Reuter.

Geneva, May 31.
M. Paul-Boncour, the French Foreign Minister, left for Paris this evening. It is understood that there will be a meeting in Paris on Friday morning between Mr. Norman Davis, Sir John Simon and M. Paul-Boncour, when they will discuss the general situation.—Reuter.

GERMAN GOVT. SPLIT

WIDENED BY NAZI ACTION

NATIONALISTS BANNED

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1924. Received June 1, 2.15 a.m.)

Berlin, May 31.

The breach between the Nazis and Nationalists, two wings of the German Government, has widened by the formation of a purely Nazi Government in Mecklenburg.

This follows the dissolution by the Hamburg Police President of the Young German Nationalist League, under a decree for the safeguarding of the Nation and State, while the Minister for the Interior in Thuringia has banned a meeting of the Nationalist students.

PROTEST LODGED.

The Nationalist leaders at Mecklenburg have protested to Herr Hitler, President Hindenburg and Dr. Hugenburg against their exclusion from the Government.

Four leaders of the Nationalist organisation of Steel Helmets have been arrested at Schonenberg, Brunswick, for canvassing new members in violation of an agreement with Hitler's Brown-shirts.—Reuter.

London, May 31.

The Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, in the Commons today said he was glad to announce that an agreement for the settlement of the dispute between Peru and Colombia was signed on May 26 at Geneva.

The agreement was based on the formula adopted by the League Advisory Committee and provided for the immediate cessation of hostilities and the despatch to Leticia within thirty days of a commission nominated by the council.

The Commission would, in the name of Colombia, take over the administration of the territory evacuated by the Peruvian forces and carry on its task for a maximum of one year pending the negotiations for a final settlement.—British Wireless.

Accepting the defendant's plea that he did not know it was an offence, Mr. Schofield in the Central Police Court this morning, discharged a Chinese youth, who was charged with the possession of two small green birds in a nest. The birds died at the Station.

"IMPUDENT ACTION"

CROSS-EXAMINATION OF MR. ADAMSON

NEW WITNESSES

Sharp comments were made by Mr. Mackinlay, representing Mr. Newman, when he cross-examined Mr. Adamson, plaintiff in the Gloucester Building band slander action to-day.

Mr. Mackinlay described it as an impudent action and submitted to Mr. Adamson that he brought the case thinking that the Gloucester would rather pay than have him come into Court and stand the publicity.

Mr. Adamson, who was leader of the orchestra at the Gloucester Building, is suing Mr. P. I. Newman, the manager, for $1,000 damages for alleged slander.

Mr. M. A. da Silva, of Messrs. D'Almada, Beneditos, and Silva, is for plaintiff, and the defendant is represented by Mr. W. A. Mackinlay, of Messrs. Deacons.

This morning, Mr. Adamson said he did not wish to sign the agreement proffered by defendant as he would not work on that contract. Defendant, however, induced him to sign it, representing that it was necessary for record purposes, and assured him that another agreement in keeping with the verbal arrangements would be drawn up.

CREDIT INCIDENT.

Mr. Silva: Before the 20th of December was there not an incident? (Continued on Page 5.)

In circumstances pointing to suicide, the distressing discovery was made this morning of the body of Mr. W. S. Cuff, a well-known local resident, in King's Park, with a shot wound in his head. A .32 revolver was by his side.

The body was lying near some bushes in the vicinity of the Nippon Tennis Club, at 8.45 a.m. Within five minutes Police were summoned to the spot and they had the remains removed to the Kowloon Mortuary.

The funeral takes place to-morrow.

The late Mr. William Sheather Cuff was in Government service until November last, being connected with the Kowloon-Canton Railway which he joined in January, 1914 as a guard. Prior to this it is understood he served in the Royal Marines. On being seconded for military service, he was absent from the Colony until 1920, when on his return, he resumed service with the Railway as Traffic Inspector.

GENIAL PERSONALITY.

A genial and pleasing personality, he was a member of many Clubs, including the Kowloon Bowling Green, where he was an enthusiastic bowler. He was retired on pension at the end of last year. He was 49 years of age, and unmarried.

Mr. Cuff acted as umpire yesterday evening in the singles championship bowls match at the Club de Recreio between Mr. Drake and Mr. Chadwick.

Mr. Wang Ching-wei, Premier of China, whose attitude to the truce arrangements is still the subject of much conjecture.

CHINA LOAN SERVICE

RESPONSIBILITY OF MANCHUKUO

REPRESENTATIONS IN BRITAIN

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1924. Received June 1, 10.30 a.m.)

London, May 31.

The question of Manchukuo sharing in the service of loans secured by the Chinese Customs was raised by Mr. G. L. Burnett in the House of Commons to-day.

He observed that Manchukuo's exports and imports exceed a quarter of the total of the Chinese trade.

Sir John Simon agreed that it was a very important fact, and he recalled that the Manchukuo authorities had expressed readiness to pay the Chinese authorities a quota towards the loan services.

He understood that the payments made last July and December were out of the revenues accrued when the Customs were seized.

Sir John pointed out that the Chinese Government were responsible for the service loans.—Reuter.

GERMAN SUBSIDY FOR SHIPPING

London, May 31.

The Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade, replying to a question in the Commons regarding press reports that the German Government are proposing a subsidy of 20,000,000 marks to German shipping, said the question of shipping subsidies was included in the Trade Agenda for the World Economic Conference.—British Wireless.

MODERATE TONE SURPRISES

SECRET UNDERSTANDING SUSPECTED

TIENTSIN COMMENT

(SPECIAL TO THE "TELEGRAPH").

TIENTSIN, JUNE 1.

THE MODERATE TONE OF THE JAPANESE DEMANDS, AS EMBODIED IN THE ARMISTICE AGREEMENT SIGNED YESTERDAY TO THE GENERAL SURPRISE, HAS LED TO A FLOCK OF RUMOURS ALLEGING SECRET, PERHAPS UNWRITTEN, UNDERSTANDINGS ON POLITICAL ISSUE.

Foreign commentators believe that the Japanese made the terms of the truce deliberately moderate in order to enable the Chinese delegates to sign it without loss of "face" or self-respect.

These observers also think that many important matters which are not dealt with, not even mentioned, in the armistice agreement, have been covered in verbal understandings between Tokyo and Nanking.

Feelings, therefore, are somewhat mixed, although both to the Chinese and foreign populations in the Peking and Tientsin areas, the truce has come as a great relief, because nobody knew from day to day when the Japanese army might invade both cities and possibly the whole of China north of the Yellow River.

The actual signing of the truce, however, took the Chinese as well as the foreign colonies by surprise, as it was announced that the armistice negotiations would only begin on Thursday or Friday.

KULING INFLUENCE?

There is a suggestion that the speed of the negotiations may possibly have been due to the receipt of a message from Kuling following the conference between Wang Ching-wei, Chiang Kai-shek and Lo Wen-kan.

The views of both Lo Wen-kan and Wang Ching-wei on the truce issue have been the subject of considerable speculation.—Reuter Special.

MIXED PRESS RECEPTION

Peking, June 1.
The Sino-Japanese Armistice gets a mixed reception from the Chinese press here this morning, some papers condemning it as a surrender and others welcoming it as a relief from the continued and useless warfare.

The later congratulatory themselves that the Armistice is merely a military affair and China's political and legal stand concerning Manchuria is not prejudiced by it.—Reuter.

MORE MORGAN REVELATIONS

SENATOR'S PROTEST OVERRULED

SHARE SALES

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received June 1, 10.10 a.m.)

Washington, May 31.

Investigations into the affairs of J. P. Morgan and Company were resumed to-day.

They have been in suspense owing to the protests of Senator Carter Glass, the well-known economist, who recently complained that the investigation had been wasting much time in digging up a legally unimportant sensation. It will be recalled that there was a sharp passage of words between Mr. Pecora, one of the counsel in the investigation and Senator Glass on the manner in which Mr. Pecora was proceeding.

PROGRAMME APPROVED.

Senator Glass thereupon insisted upon the submission of the programme of the enquiry to the Senate Banking Committee for their approval. They held a private session yesterday and approved the programme submitted by Mr. Pecora.

The investigations were, therefore, resumed this morning.

In the course of the day's hearing, a further sensation was provided by the reading of a list of the names of certain favoured customers of Morgan's, who were permitted to buy the shares of the United Corporation at cost price. The names included:

General Pershing.
Mr. Norman Davis.
Mr. W. H. Woodin.
Mr. J. J. Raskob.
Senator McAdoo.
Mr. E. H. Mellon, brother of the former American Ambassador to Britain.—Reuter.

SAVAGE ATTACK BY DOG

THREE INJURED IN YAU MATI

MAN IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Three persons were severely injured by bites from a dog which savagely attacked them in Yau mati yesterday.

The animal, a brown and white chow, owned by a shopman at No. 2, Bowring Street, appears to have made a sudden and very savage attack on two small boys who were standing on the kerb. When a foki of the shop attempted to drive the animal away, the dog also flew at him.

All three were severely bitten about the arms, legs and body, before the animal started on a mad career down the street.

Later, Sergt. Simpson who had come out of the Yau mati Station with a shotgun, tracked down the animal in Jordan Road and quickly dispatched it.

The body was removed to the depot at Matakok for examination for traces of rabies.

The three victims were: Chan Kwong-kee (13) living at 202, Nathan Road.

Chan Yue (15), 30 Shanghai Street, and Chung Kee-chung, 20, employed as a foki at the shop at Bowring Street.

They were given all possible treatment, and the children were discharged. The man whose condition is feared to be serious, is being retained for further treatment.

DOG FLEW AT MOTORIST.

Another has been reported in which Lau Hsing, 22, a clerk, who was driving a motor-bicycle in Kowloon City yesterday, was attacked by a dog which sprang at him. He was bitten in the thigh and went into hospital for precautionary treatment.

The animal was owned by Mr. Li Chor-chi, of 37, Knitack Bund.

SKIPPER MAKES A COMPLAINT

SHARP RETORT BY MAGISTRATE

Captain Frank Bayliss, master of the s.s. Tai Lee, was charged before Commissioner Nowell at the Marine Court this morning with over-loading his vessel.
Pleading guilty, defendant complained that according to the remarks passed to him by the Boarding Officer the s.s. Tai Lee was a malicious nature.
The Honourable Magistrate said that if the defendant was committed and the defendant acknowledged it, he saw no reason for complaint by the defendant, therefore he would impose a fine of $250.

A charge brought against the commander of the vessel was withdrawn.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

FILMDOM'S FAMOUS

Maureen O'Sullivan.

Hollywood.—Clothes are getting summery and charming. Maureen O'Sullivan has a new white lace frock with cape sleeves and flaring skirt and makes a completely lovely picture by topping it with a picture hat of white straw adorned with hand and flowers of white patent leather. Jean Crawford, wore a starched chiffon dress and a huge spray of orchids. Vera Engels, wore a powder blue embroidered organdie dress with its own little matching three-tiered cape, all rippling around her. Patricia Ellis has a new dinner dress of white organdie with butterfly sleeves, very short, a cute high collar and butterfly bow of organdie under the chin and the dress itself form-fitting and smart as can be. She wears fancy white organdie gloves with it, with flaring three tiered cuffs. Marlene Dietrich, has a handsome new spring suit of black linen, with Rodier blouse and matching hat. Marlan Nixon, wore the most summery print seen to date. It was beige chiffon, with bright coloured field flowers splashed gaily all over it.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF.

By Alicia Hart

Our grandmothers used to take sulphur and molasses for a spring tonic.

Modern women find facials, new coiffures and a manicure do the trick very nicely and are much easier to take.

Spring should make every woman look into her mirror. If your face isn't shining and handsome to greet life during this hopeful season, do something about it.

The most hopeless face can be spruced up. The stringiest and drabbiest hair can take on new life, new sheen and be done becomingly.

If you are too fat, then you'll have to reduce, there's nothing else that can raise your ego to the pitch spring intends it to be. Otherwise, your work in getting your spring tonics is infinitesimal.

First of all, either take the plunge and get your face done for you or give yourself a facial that's worthy of the name. You can get very inexpensive half-facials, or business-facials or whatever name your local beauty shops call their half-price facials this spring. And the luxury of lying back in state, with someone else worrying about your face for a change, has a marvellous effect on your spirits.

Your hair probably needs re-conditioning. That means much brushing, massage, a bit of tonic every night. Nothing sets a woman up more than a permanent wave, remember that. Give yourself a water wave or put your hair up in kid curlers, or do something to make it prettier. Spring should call out your best efforts!

BABY'S "PLAYGROUND"

It is an excellent idea to cover the sides and bottom of the baby's play pen with oil cloth. Oil cloth is easily washed with soap and water and, in gay colours, presents a very cheerful appearance.

USEFUL HINTS.

Plaids for Style.

Plaid silk dresses are smarter than printed ones this spring. Many of them have jackets of solid colours and it is very chic to have a jacket of the same coloured plaid in larger squares.

Coats and Dresses, Both

Some of the new coat dresses for spring are most practical. They are made to wear either as a coat or as a dress. The ones with detachable capes or with extra fur pieces allow for a wider range of variety.

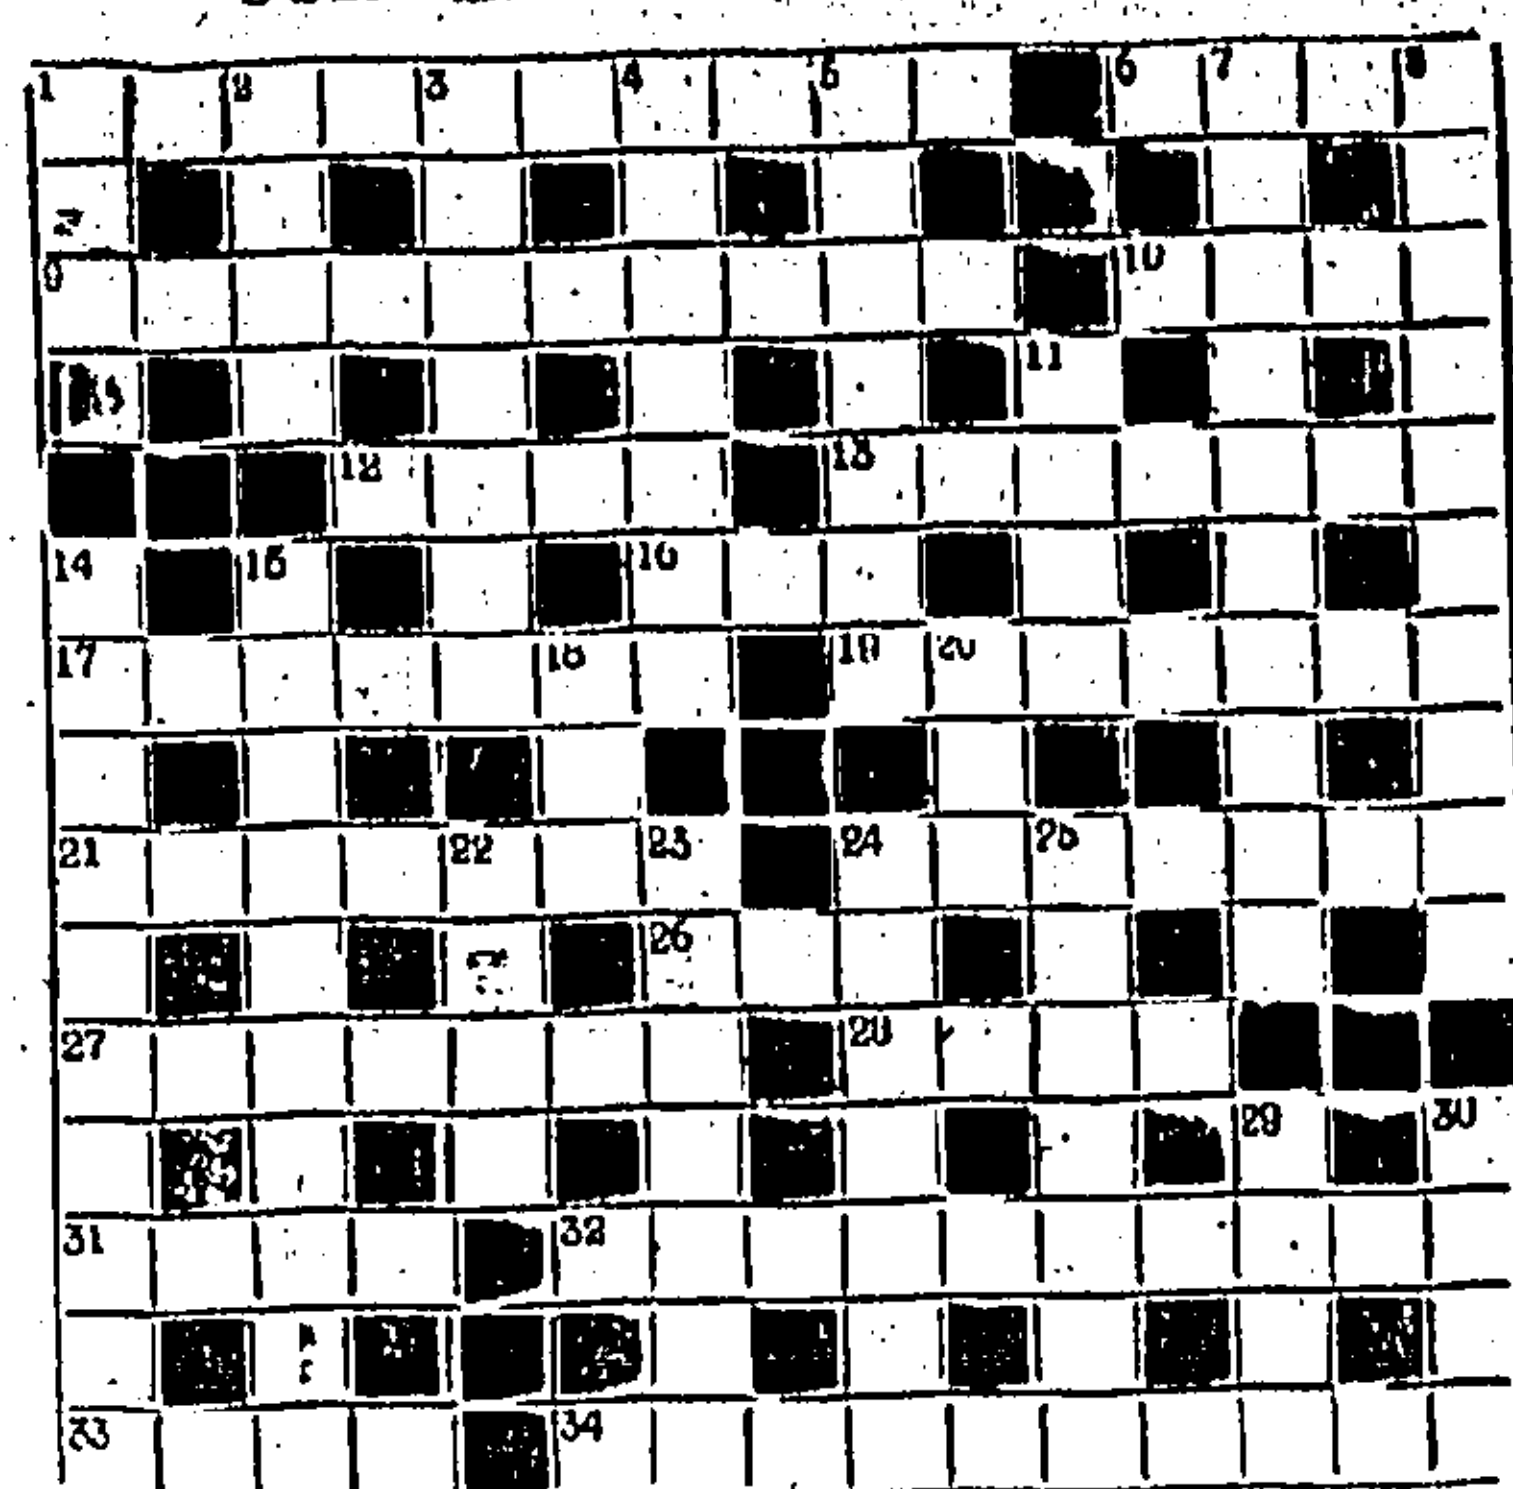

Printed in the World's Fair Fashion

Architecture has gone into women's clothes, as evidenced in this charming new print in rich brown and rose tones, designed by Walter Dorwin Teague who was inspired by the exteriors of some of the buildings now being built for the Century of Progress Exposition.

This dress is particularly lovely and wearable, being a one-piece model, with flaring three-quarters cape sleeves, an old-fashioned yoke and a fichu made of brown organdie, that droops over one shoulder and ties in a bow. It is removable for laundering.

RICH AREAS TO HELP NEEDY TOWNS.

SEASIDE RESORTS RESIST SCHEME

The Government's plan to relieve distressed areas—where rates are 14s. or more in the £—by rearranging the Exchequer grants at the expense of the wealthier areas, is meeting with resistance. Opposition comes mainly from seaside, pleasure and residential resorts, who maintain that their low poundage is a false index of prosperity. They say they have upkeep expenses, which are not borne by industrial areas. M.P.s. interested in the Government's proposals met at the House of Commons last night with Mr. John Slater, M.P. for Eastbourne in the chair. Representatives of local authorities in Bucks and Kent, and of Lytham St. Anne, Eastbourne and Southport were present. Most of the resorts, it was stated, had suffered severely in recent years and could not afford to agree to the Government's rearrangement of grants. The Government proposes a contribution to the relief of distressed areas, equal to half the sum contributed by better-off areas. A sum of about £1,000,000 has been mentioned.

BY H. W. CORLEY

CHAPTER XLIV

It was Barry's voice that Mona heard. "Oh, my darling, you've come at last!"

Barry was beside her. After all these days and weeks of courteous formality, of coldness almost, he was again the Barry she had learned to love. For a moment Mona did not speak, did not turn her head. She sank against the white linen shoulder, against the arm which enclosed her and sighed. Then, still without speaking, she raised her hand and pressed it against Barry's face.

"Yes, Barry, I—I'm here!" They stood in silence. The sands lay white around them. The sea under the white moonlight rippled quietly. The flamboyant trees close at hand swayed softly. There seemed no one else in the world except these two.

Mona did not look at Barry. Her head sank lower against his shoulder. She could feel the beating of his heart as tumultuous as her own. "Mona, why did you do it, darling?" he said at last.

"Do what, Barry?" Still she did not look at him. He had caught her hand in his own.

"Do what? Oh, Mona, how could you! Why did you marry my uncle?" The despair in his voice tore her heart.

"Why did you run away?" she countered.

He was miserable and she was adding to his misery. "How could I stay when I knew?"

"Barry!"

He did not speak for a moment, but his arm tightened about her.

"Barry! Do you think I married your uncle for his money?"

"It certainly looked that way. You knew I had none. You know—"

She shook her head. The tendrils of her hair touched his cheek.

"How could you think that of me?" Mona demanded. "You hadn't asked me to marry you. You hadn't even said you loved me!"

"But you knew!"

"I thought I did! That was why when Mr. Garretson asked me to rush to Twilands and marry Barry Townsend I didn't hesitate! That was the way it all happened, Barry. It didn't occur to me that your uncle's name was Barry, too! It didn't occur to me that I was going to Twilands for any other reason except to marry you!"

"But when Garretson told you it was my uncle—" Barry began.

"He didn't! We talked it all over without mentioning the man's name. Finally I asked him just as I was going out the door who the man was and he said 'Barry Townsend.'"

"And you thought you were going to Twilands to marry me?" Barry said slowly.

Mona nodded. "Until I was there in the sick room."

"And by that time I was on board the Miranda!"

Barry's head dropped miserably and Mona reached out a hand once more and touched his cheek. "It's not too late now, Barry," she said timidly. "It's not too late. We aren't old yet. And we're here—"

"How can I marry my uncle's wife?" demanded Barry bitterly.

"My aunt!" He stared into space. "Mona, oh, how could you—how could you!"

"Your uncle's widow, Barry," Mona whispered, "but never his wife! I was never that!"

"You mean—?"

"I mean I was to consider the marriage for a year. I told you that before. He died before the year ended."

There was a silence in which

little by little Barry's misery spent itself. Here was Mona, loving him whole-heartedly, the past explained away. She had come to him of her own accord, since she guessed rightly that he would not seek her out.

They would be married to-morrow! They would go to Port of Spain and the consul could perform the ceremony. Was there anything irregular about marrying one's aunt? Steve and Lottie could be the attendants. They could live here always in happiness and peace. Why not?

Mona stirred in Barry's arms. She laughed a little, happily.

"Will you marry me, Mona? Right away?"

He could feel her stiffen suddenly at the words. "I can't do that, Barry."

"Why not?"

"But I don't understand you, Mona. His voice was hurt, puzzled. "You said you loved me and now you say you can't marry me! Why?"

She did not answer for a moment. "I have something I must do first, Barry," she said slowly.

"You mean you must go home first?"

She shook her head at this, then slowly nodded. "Maybe. It might be necessary."

"There isn't any reason why you can't marry me, is there?" he asked quickly. "Uncle didn't bind you in any way? He didn't specify that you could never marry me?"

"Not exactly. He said—"

"Then it's the money!"

She nodded agreement, and Barry's expression hardened. "You mean if you marry me you'll forfeit your right to the fortune?"

As the girl did not speak he went on again. "Is that what you mean, Mona?"

"If I marry anyone, Barry."

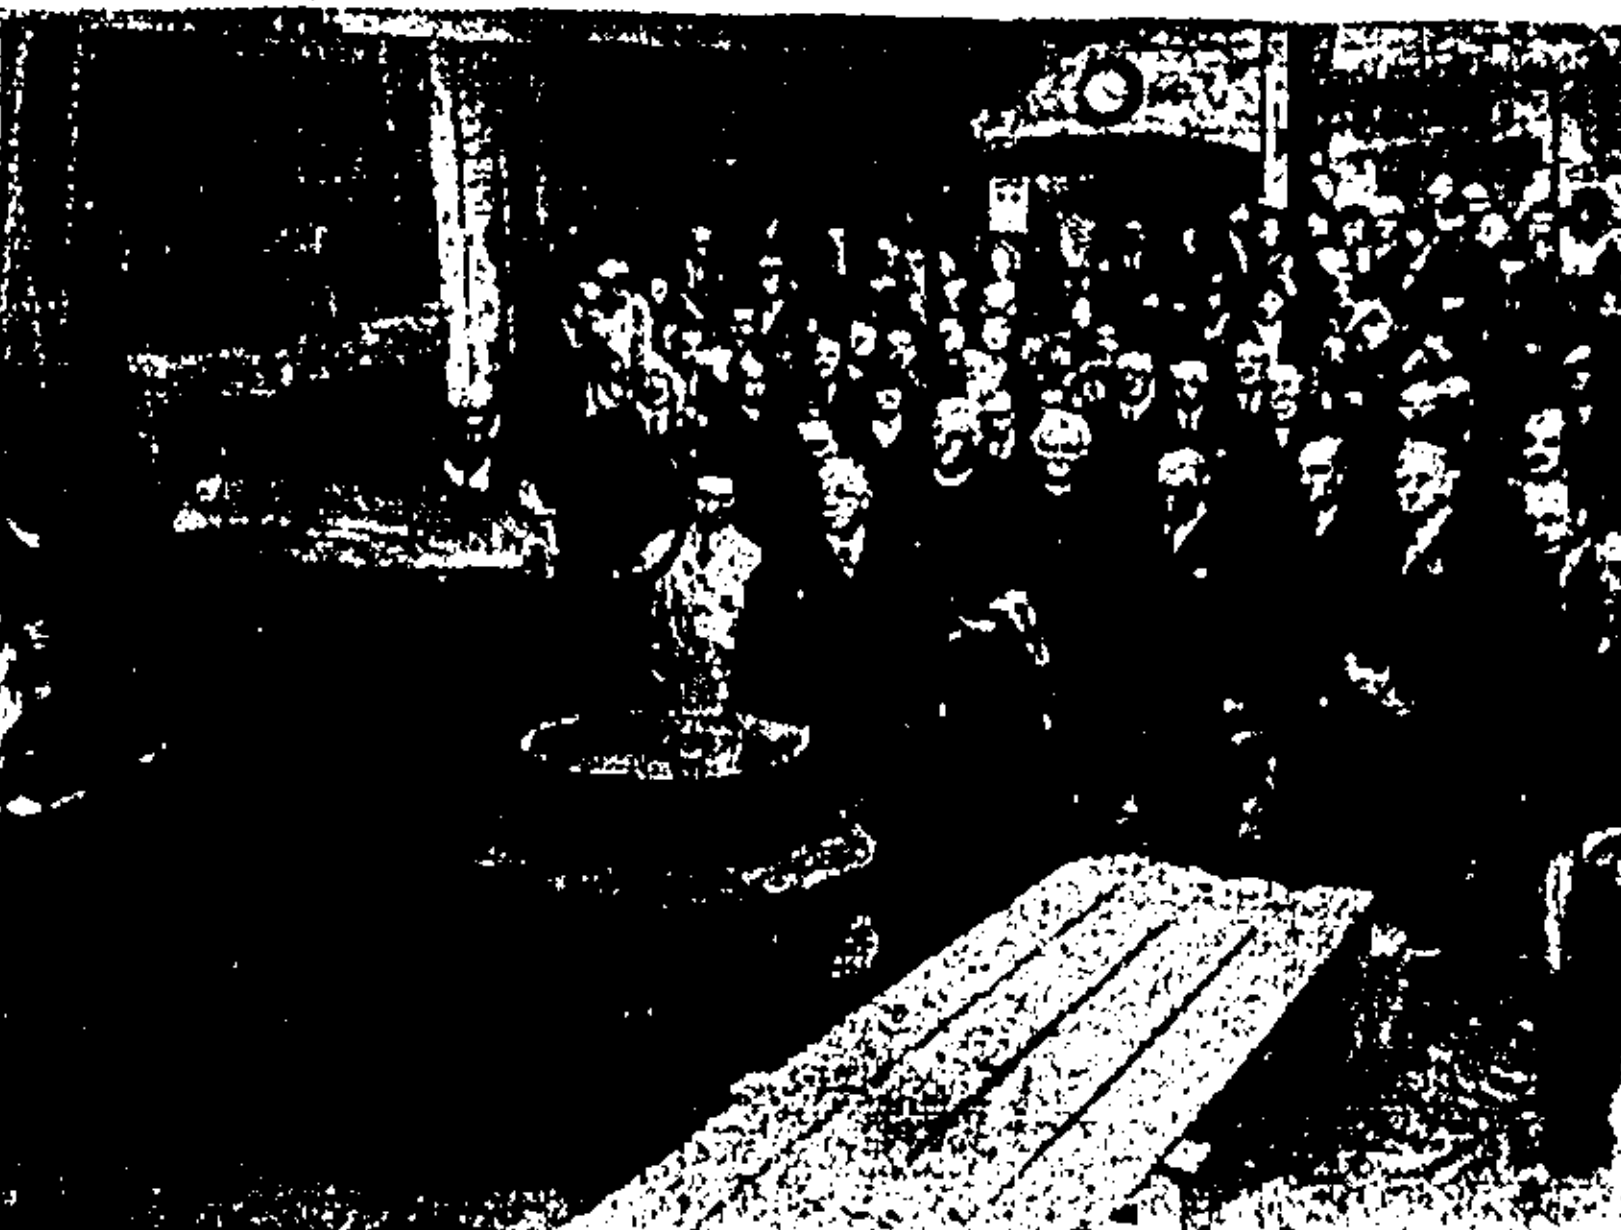

"You mean you lose the money and you care for that? It means more than your love for me? Is that what you're trying to say? Tell me you would rather have this money than marry me! Tell me!"

He shook her fiercely. "You don't understand," Mona began. "I do want to marry you me!"

SHARP COMMENT BY SOLICITOR IN SLANDER CASE

dent about your credit?—Yes, I went to the Gloucester Building about the 10th or 15th of December—of course, the ballroom was closed—and was sitting in the lounge with my wife and two friends. I ordered drinks. The boy brought a chit and immediately, the Number One boy came up and said, "You cannot sign a chit here, your credit is stopped." He said this in a very rude and nasty manner.

I called for Mr. Gladstone, the sub-manager and asked him what was the idea of my chits being stopped. He assured me he knew nothing about it and went out to get the Credit Book. My name was not in it which meant that my credit had not been stopped. I immediately went out to see Mr. Newman and he also assured me he knew nothing about it and said he would phone down to Mrs. Drake.

Mrs. Drake was out but he spoke to the clerk and asked about it and the clerk said my credit had been stopped.

I said to Mr. Newman: "What is the idea of that?" and he replied: "Well, in any case, if Mrs. Drake stopped your credit she was perfectly right in doing so." He added that he would see about it the next day.

Mr. Silva: From the date of the re-opening, how was business in the Gloucester Building?—Business was not what it was before the ball-room closed. It was in the holiday season but there was not near the crowd there should have been.

Mr. Silva: Did it become better?—As a matter of fact it started going down from the date of the re-opening as far as tea dances were concerned.

Mr. Silva: Were there any complaints arising during this period?—Continual complaints.

Mr. Silva: About what?—Mostly about the floor.

FLOOR ISSUE.

Mr. Silva: You will remember an incident sometime about the beginning of January between you and Mr. Newman at a dinner dance?—I remember. Mr. Newman came up and asked me why I was always complaining about the floor and he said he himself had received numerous complaints and did not know what to do about it. I told him the floor was absolutely smeared with wax which was not properly rubbed in. In fact it was so thick you could write your name in it. When anybody put their foot in it, it left a mark.

Mr. Adamson repeated the conversation he had with defendant on the matter of the floor and added: I told him to leave the floor to me and I could get it in shape.

Mr. Silva: What did Mr. Newman say to that?—He looked at me in a very angry manner and said "If I will, I won't," and walked away.

HIS IMPRESSIONS.

Mr. Silva: What sort of impression did you get from these various incidents between you and Mr. Newman?—The impression I obtained was that the manager of the hotel was trying to blame us for the lack of business in the ball-room, because I had pointed out to Mr. Newman that I was only using a seven-piece orchestra in comparison with a 10-piece band at the Peninsula and two bands at the Hong Kong Hotel.

Mr. Silva: Was this impression confirmed by anything that happened after that?—Yes, round about January 25, Mr. Newman came dashing in at the back of the band stand and wanted to know what was the matter with me as it was three minutes to 12 o'clock. I had my watch on me which I had set by the Gloucester Building clock and I pointed out that it was nine minutes to 12 o'clock. As I went on the band stand there was a request from one of the tables and I played a dance and three encores. When I had played the King I jumped down and dashed round to look at the clock and saw that it was only one minute past 12 o'clock. Mr. Newman's words to me were: "For—sake, do you know what the time is? What the—Is the matter with you?"

Mr. Silva: Was there another incident in connection with your credit?—Yes, my credit was stopped again on January 16 although I had arranged with Mrs. Drake to pay the band's chits out of the monthly salary so that there would be no difficulty about the chits being stopped.

Mr. Silva: During the last days of January, do you remember any incident in connection with Arvello, one of the members of your band?—Yes, I was told he was parking himself in the Reading Room next to Mr. Newman's office every morning. I went up several times and saw and asked him what he was doing. He said he liked to go there to read.

DISMISSAL INCIDENT.

A few days later there was another incident. He was told that one of his saxophone players was with Mr. Newman in his office and that he should "look out for him". At the end of February he went to get his salary cheque from Mrs. Drake and she told him, without looking up from her work, to sign a receipt for the salary of the orchestra for February in full satisfaction of all claims against the Company on leaving the company's service.

He refused to sign it, and went in search of Mr. Newman whom he found in the lounge in front of the dining room. He enquired why he was wanted to sign such a document and Mr. Newman replied "You will sign it or you will not get your money. Anyone dismissing signs this sort of receipt." Witness then instructed his solicitors and payment of the salary was obtained. The band, with the exception of himself, had been re-engaged for Gloucester Building as from March 1st.

CO-OPERATION.

Mr. Silva: It has been alleged against you in the letter that there was lack of co-operation on your part. Do you remember a time at the beginning when the question of dinner dances was discussed between you and Newman?

Witness: Yes. It was during the opening week. Mr. Newman came to me and asked me what I thought of adding an extra dinner dance on Saturdays. I told him I thought it is a good idea although it meant money out of my own pocket, as I could have worked outside on Saturday with my band. I was not receiving one cent for that extra dinner dance.

Mr. Silva: What were your duties as leaders of a jazz orchestra?

Witness: The arrangement of programmes, music, rehearsing the orchestra and telling them what to do. I also looked after requests from patrons.

Who was to do the orchestration?

The orchestrations were as a rule already in published form. When new numbers came out I tried to get hold of them. I was only able to get the violin parts of the latest tunes and from these I worked out the orchestrations.

MUSIC OR DANCING?

It is alleged that numerous complaints have been received from European and Chinese patrons that they found it impossible to dance to the time and tunes rendered. Is that correct?

I say it is not, not if they knew how to dance.

His Lordship: All patrons don't know how to dance do they?

Witness: No. Asked if he held daily practices, witness replied that the practices were not daily. For two weeks prior to the opening, he rehearsed the band practically every day and then they were rehearsed two or three times a week up to the time the ceiling fell in. While repairs were being effected he rehearsed in a small room in the broadening studio in the Gloucester Building.

"During January and February we rehearsed every afternoon in the hall because there was never anyone there to the tea dances," he said.

Mr. Silva: It is also alleged that you did not have an up-to-date repertoire. Is that true?

Witness: No, it is not.

As leader of Dick Adamson's Gloucester Band would any derogatory statement about the band affect you? It certainly would. It was your band and you were responsible for it?

My name was at the head of it.

CROSS-EXAMINATION.

Mr. Mackinlay, in cross-examination: Did you go to see Mr. Newman about this letter?

Witness: No.

Why not? Because I did not think it necessary. The allegations in the letter were not true and I knew it.

In spite of that you did not go to see Mr. Newman at the end of February and ask him if he was going to keep you on? I had no reason to do that. I was informed that my Filipino boys had been approached by the chief of the Gloucester Building and had been told that they would receive more money if they stayed on.

His Lordship: You didn't seek re-engagement yourself?

Witness: No.

Mr. Mackinlay: You say that the letter of January 31 is a grave reflection of your name, so why did you wait until the end of February to clear your name?

Witness stated that he would have but learned that the chief had arranged to employ all his Filipino boys.

Mr. Mackinlay: Wouldn't that have been a greater incentive to clear your name? I considered it an insult.

And yet you did nothing about it. I put it to you quite frankly that the reason you did not take any action until the end of February was that it was not until the end of February that you were certain that you were not to be re-engaged.

IMPUDENT ACTION.

That is why you brought this impudent action isn't it? No, it was not.

His Lordship: But why did you wait four weeks before you demanded any remedy through your solicitors? I had nothing to speak to Mr. Newman about. I thought he would do the speaking. Why did you wait four weeks?

Dr. Dollfus, the Austrian Chancellor, inspecting a guard of honour during his recent visit to Rome.

unless it was in the hope of being re-employed? I was told the Filipino boys had been re-engaged. I was also offered a job from Java and was expecting a reply from them in answer to my cable as to rates etc. I expected that reply in the early part of March.

"SEEMS OBVIOUS."

His Lordship: It seems to be obvious that you didn't take action at the beginning of February because you thought you might be taken on again.

I had no idea of being taken on again.

His Lordship: You still do not explain why you waited four weeks.

Mr. Mackinlay: What damage have you suffered from this blow to your reputation which has been inflicted upon you? Is there a single instance of any sort of damage consequent upon Mrs. Drake seeing the letter written to you by Mr. Newman?

There certainly was damage. I heard about it from other sources.

QUESTION OF MALICE.

But can you give one instance where damage was caused by Mrs. Drake seeing that letter?

Mr. Silva: With due respect, my Lord, I do not think my friend is entitled to ask questions as to special damage as I am not claiming special damages.

His Lordship: It may be material to the question of malice. When Mr. Mackinlay again put the question, witness replied that he had heard a lot of things said about him outside.

Mr. Mackinlay: Have you lost any contracts because Mrs. Drake saw the letter?—No matter where I go, whether in Hongkong or any anywhere else it would mean a lot to me to have my name cleared.

His Lordship: You are claiming on the fact that Mrs. Drake saw the letter published to you. This is not an action for wrongful dismissal.

But Mrs. Drake could have passed it on to someone else.

Answering Mr. Mackinlay, witness said he had repeatedly approached Mr. Newman about complaints concerning the state of the floor. Several people, both in the building and outside had spoken to him about the floor, the pillars and the lighting.

"DISAPPOINTED MAN."

Mr. Mackinlay: I put it to you that generally speaking, while certain incidents in your evidence may be true the general fact is untrue and this action is merely an endeavour to get money out of the Gloucester. You were dismissed and you have brought this action thinking the Gloucester Building would rather pay you than come here and stand the publicity. You are a very disappointed man that this case has come into Court.

I am not suing the Gloucester Building.

No. But you are suing the management and taking good care to bring out every incident that makes good reading and that might reflect discredit on the Gloucester Building.

I have not brought them all out. Re-examined by Mr. Silva, plaintiff said the purpose of the action was not to get money as had been alleged. If he had obtained an

A TEST FOR OCEAN FLYING

In a world grown a little dazed by chasing its tail around a spiralled path of economics and politics it is difficult to spare much time for contemplation of activities that are more spectacular than useful. Nevertheless, it is worth noticing that the Italian aviation corps is about to stage one of the most sensational flights that has ever been attempted. In the next few days, unless plans are suddenly altered, a squadron of 24 Italian seaplanes, under the leadership of Gen. Italo Balbo, will attempt to fly from Italy to Chicago. The total distance to be covered exceeds 6,300 miles and it will be accomplished in six hops, from Rome to Amsterdam, Amsterdam to Northern Scotland, from Scotland to Iceland, Iceland to Labrador, on to Montreal and Chicago.

The flight, of course, will be linked with the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago. It will be a "good will" gesture of considerable value for the Italian government. It will, also—if it is blessed with any measure of success—do a great deal to hasten the day when regular transoceanic air services are commonplace. One hundred flyers have been chosen to take part in the flight, and in preparation for it they have been trained as rigorously as any group of Olympic athletes. Italy is taking no chances of failure. Machines and men will be in the best possible condition. The very thought of two dozen aeroplanes winging their way across the ocean in a body is exciting. There will be people, of course, who will be quick to proclaim that such a flight emphasises the need for stronger defences against hostile air fleets. The old bogeys of the destruction of leading cities by bombs will be hauled out again; the old story about the new supremacy of the aeroplane will be chanted anew. These arguments can be left to military authorities. For the ordinary persons, the flight will be noteworthy as a demonstration of the reliability of the aeroplane as an instrument of long-distance communication. If a squadron of this size can accomplish an ocean crossing, it should be fairly obvious that regular transatlantic air services can and should be established. We shall be forced to realise that so far we have hardly begun to use all the marvellous potentalities of the aeroplane. The Italian government, attempting a spectacular flight, bids fair to give the cause of air transportation the biggest fillip it has received since Lindbergh's Atlantic flight.

Self-Help for Iron and Steel

There are two points of special interest in connexion with the recently approved scheme for the reorganisation of the iron and steel trade in Great Britain. The first is the scheme's frank recognition, in a world where an aeroplane flying over the Himalayas affects the employment of garage hands in Derby, that a final solution for the problems of a national industry can be found only through international co-operation. The root trouble of the iron and steel industry is that of most other industries, an excess of production over consumption, a condition that necessitates international action for bringing the two sides of the equation into equilibrium. The second point of interest in connexion with the scheme is that the plans for reorganisation are not being forced upon the industry from without, but are the industry's own proposals. In April, 1932, the Import Duties Advisory Committee agreed that the British iron and steel trade should be protected from certain forms of foreign competition, but also made its opinion clear that tariffs alone would not restore the industry's prosperity. The need for some form of reorganisation was apparent. The industry itself then established a national committee, which in turn formed regional committees in Scotland, South Wales, on the northeast coast, and in the midlands, in consequence of which a scheme has been brought forward, and has been officially approved. It proposes the establishment of a group of associations which will encourage the concentration of production in the more efficient plants, and be able to negotiate agreements with producers abroad. This plan has the merit of not requiring any violent changes in the organisation of the industry. The suggested groups will be formed by amalgamating the fifty or more associations into which the trade is now divided, and they will be finally co-ordinated by an Iron and Steel Corporation of Great Britain. The whole scheme is recognised to be only the first step to recovery; but it is often the first step that is the most difficult.

Cleaning Cleopatra's Needle

It seems highly improbable that Egypt's famous Queen had any very intimate acquaintance with so housewifely an object as a needle. The arduous occupation of gracefully reclining on silken cushions on golden-bannered royal barges was rather more to her liking than plain or even fancy sewing. The only possible reason, therefore, for so naming the ancient obelisk that adorns the Thames Embankment, in London, evidently resides in the fact that it has a point at one end and once stood in Alexandria where Cleopatra held her court. It was there long before she saw it; indeed, it already possessed quite a respectable claim to antiquity, having been originally set up in Heliopolis by Pharaoh Thothmes III in 1442 B. C., only being transferred to Alexandria in 18 B. C. by Caesar Augustus to adorn the Caesareum there. Now, the needle needs polishing, according to a correspondent of the London Observer. The "grime and filth" of cockney "civilisation" have caked the fine pink granite of the single-stoned shaft so that none may read the lavish encomiums which the shrinking Thothmes bestowed upon his personal prowess. At least, the writer pleads, if the monument to the doughty old warrior had to be wrenched from its natural habitat in Egypt, Londoners might at least make the effort to keep it fairly clean. It does seem that thirty-three centuries of service give Cleopatra's Needle a right to revolve in the land of its expatriation the Order of the Bath.

STATE'S SEARCHLIGHT ON WALL ST. BANKERS

DILLON—THE MAN WHO WILL NEVER REALISE AMBITION

By WILLIS THORNTON

Clarence Dillon

Janina J. Battenweiser, Ella Walker and Hugh Knowlton.

LEE, HIGGINSON & CO.

The Goliath of the army of private banking against which the United States Senate is hurling its pebbles of investigation, is J. P. Morgan & Co. But there are other giants in that army and they are little less formidable.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Lee, Higginson & Co., Dillon, Read & Co., are typical examples of the huge private banks specializing in the issue and floating of securities, which have achieved a mammoth concentration of money power. Investigated 20 years ago with little result, these private banks now face further proings and perhaps regulation.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co., is probably next in size to the House of Morgan, though of course absence of public reports makes it impossible to say with precision.

Second only to Morgan in the general private banking field, Kuhn, Loeb is probably second to none in the railroad field. Railroads to which it has lent aid as reorganizer or banker include Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, B. & O., Pennsylvania, Missouri Pacific, Chicago & Eastern Illinois, Wabash, Texas & Pacific, and Denver & Rio Grande.

Its palatial offices at William and Pine streets occupy four floors, and are, through the private activities of the partners, the wellspring of Jewish charities and benevolence in the United States. There is a pronounced air of art and internationalism about Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

RAILS AND KUHN, LOEB.

Otto H. Kahn, partner, is best-known to the public through his patronage of the Metropolitan Opera and other musical enterprises.

Felix Warburg, partner, descendant of a long line of German bankers from Hamburg, is one of our great philanthropists.

The international aspect is aided by Lieut.-Col. Sir William George Edon Wiseman, partner, a soldier who had charge of the British Secret Service in the United States after he was invalided home from distinguished service before Ypres. He also brought to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. a close connexion with the British Cowdray oil interests in Mexico.

Founded in 1867 by Solomon Loeb and Abraham Kuhn, this firm, like the House of Morgan, has roots in the merchandising business. Its hold on railroad financing goes back to 1897, when Jacob H. Schiff tangled with E. H. Harriman over control of the Northern Pacific, and the result was co-operation between Schiff, Harriman, Standard Oil money, and City Bank (now the National City).

It was Schiff who appeared before the same Pujo committee which examined J. P. Morgan in 1913.

The present partners of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. are Warburg, Kahn, George W. Bovenizer, Lewis L. Strauss, Wiseman, John M. Schiff (son of J. L.), Gilbert W. Kahn (son of Otto H.), Frederick M. Warburg (son of Felix M.), Ben-

Important directorates held by these partners include the International Acceptance Bank, American Securities, the Manhattan Co., Los Angeles and Salt Lake R.R., Fleischman-Morris, General American Tank Car, Susquehanna, U. S. Railroad, U. S. Lumber, & N. Y. Railroad, National Rail, U. S. Rubber (2), National Public, Chemical Bank and Trust, Western Union, Pan-American Petroleum, International Mercantile Marine Petroleum Corporation, and Sinclair Consolidated Oil.

Perhaps the most impressive banking house in the Wall Street area is the magnificent new home of Lee, Higginson & Co., a dream in marble of what a banking room might be. This is a Boston firm which goes back to 1848, for 73 years operated from a single location in State Street. There are 15 partners, headed by George C. Lee, and the foreign setup is identical with that of the House of Morgan, including the London house of Higginson & Co., and the Paris house of Lee, Higginson & Co.

It has an apparently dependent incorporated branch, the Lee, Higginson Trust Co., incorporated in 1927 under Massachusetts law to do a "general banking and trust business." This had, in 1931, not quite nine millions in deposits, which is of course no measure of the influence of Lee, Higginson & Co. itself.

This firm has distributed upwards of a billion dollars in securities, and was recently in the public eye as American bankers for Ivar Kreuger. It was a Lee, Higginson employee who caught the Kreuger errors that led to his downfall and suicide. It recently formed a new securities affiliate, the Lee, Higginson Corporation, with capital subscribed outside the partnership, the latter remaining with its assets intact. Lee, Higginson has acted as banker for many utility companies, including Puget Electric Power & Light, Savannah Electric & Power, Houston Electric, Dallas Light & Power, Montana Power, and also such general firms as Budd Wheel, By-Products Coke, U. S. Smelting, Fairbanks Morse, (Continued on Page 10.)

The Very Idea!

RANDOM RAMBLINGS

By Eddie Kelly, Half Wit.

AFTER tearing our hair for two hours, twenty-eight minutes, and fifty-nine seconds, trying to think up some subject to pass on to our unappreciative public to-day, we have decided to write about nothing at all.

THERE'S nothing funny about trying to write a funny column. You start off with a mind like the burial service, tear up reams and reams of paper and your hair, finally scream yourself hoarse over a particularly witty simile you've managed to think out, take it in to the Editor, and watch him anxiously while he reads it.

Editors are like that. We've had so many knocks on the chin from our Editor that we'd have been knocked flat ages ago if it wasn't for the fact that we get so many kicks in the pants.

Why, we've got so many kicks in the pants that our Editor doesn't scratch matches on the sole of his shoe any longer, because it tears holes in his socks.

Editors who never use blue pencils are about as rare as a Scotsman who throws the cork into the waste paper basket when he opens a bottle of whisky for his guests.

Speaking of life! How quickly the little ones grow up.

It seems as if you no sooner get through sitting up with them than you're sitting up for them.

If they're women they absorb most of the flattery in this world. The rest goes on tombstones. But that's life.

Which brings us to women. (Don't interrupt us!) This is a subject about which we know a lot.

We've loved many women in our time. They say that only women know the value of love, but men know what it cost, and when a man burns with love for a woman, he generally makes a fool of himself.

Especially in Hongkong, where they're apt to give themselves airs.

If you bask in the sunshine of the smile of some of the local gold-diggers you're apt to get sunburnt.

Other women in Hongkong are like hens. You know, the Kowloon hen and the Peak hen.

"They're selling my eggs for 35 cents a dozen this week," said the Kowloon hen.

"That's nothing," snifled the Peak hen, "it costs 45 cents to buy mine."

"Huh," said the Kowloon hen, "I should strain myself for ten cents!"

BEAUTY AND FASHION.

[Orders executed in strict rotation. A full-sized photograph must accompany all inquiries.]

"My ears are very large, and at golf or tennis tend to flap. Is this, do you think, an attractive feature? and if not, what should I do about it?"—Budella.

Well, dear, tastes vary, and we can only speak for ourselves. You could wear a bonnet, you know (? with bugles), and if you are a "society girl" the notion might "catch on." Another idea would be to dress in such startling fashion (for example, in brown paper) that no one noticed your ears. Give my love to the other headaches won't you?

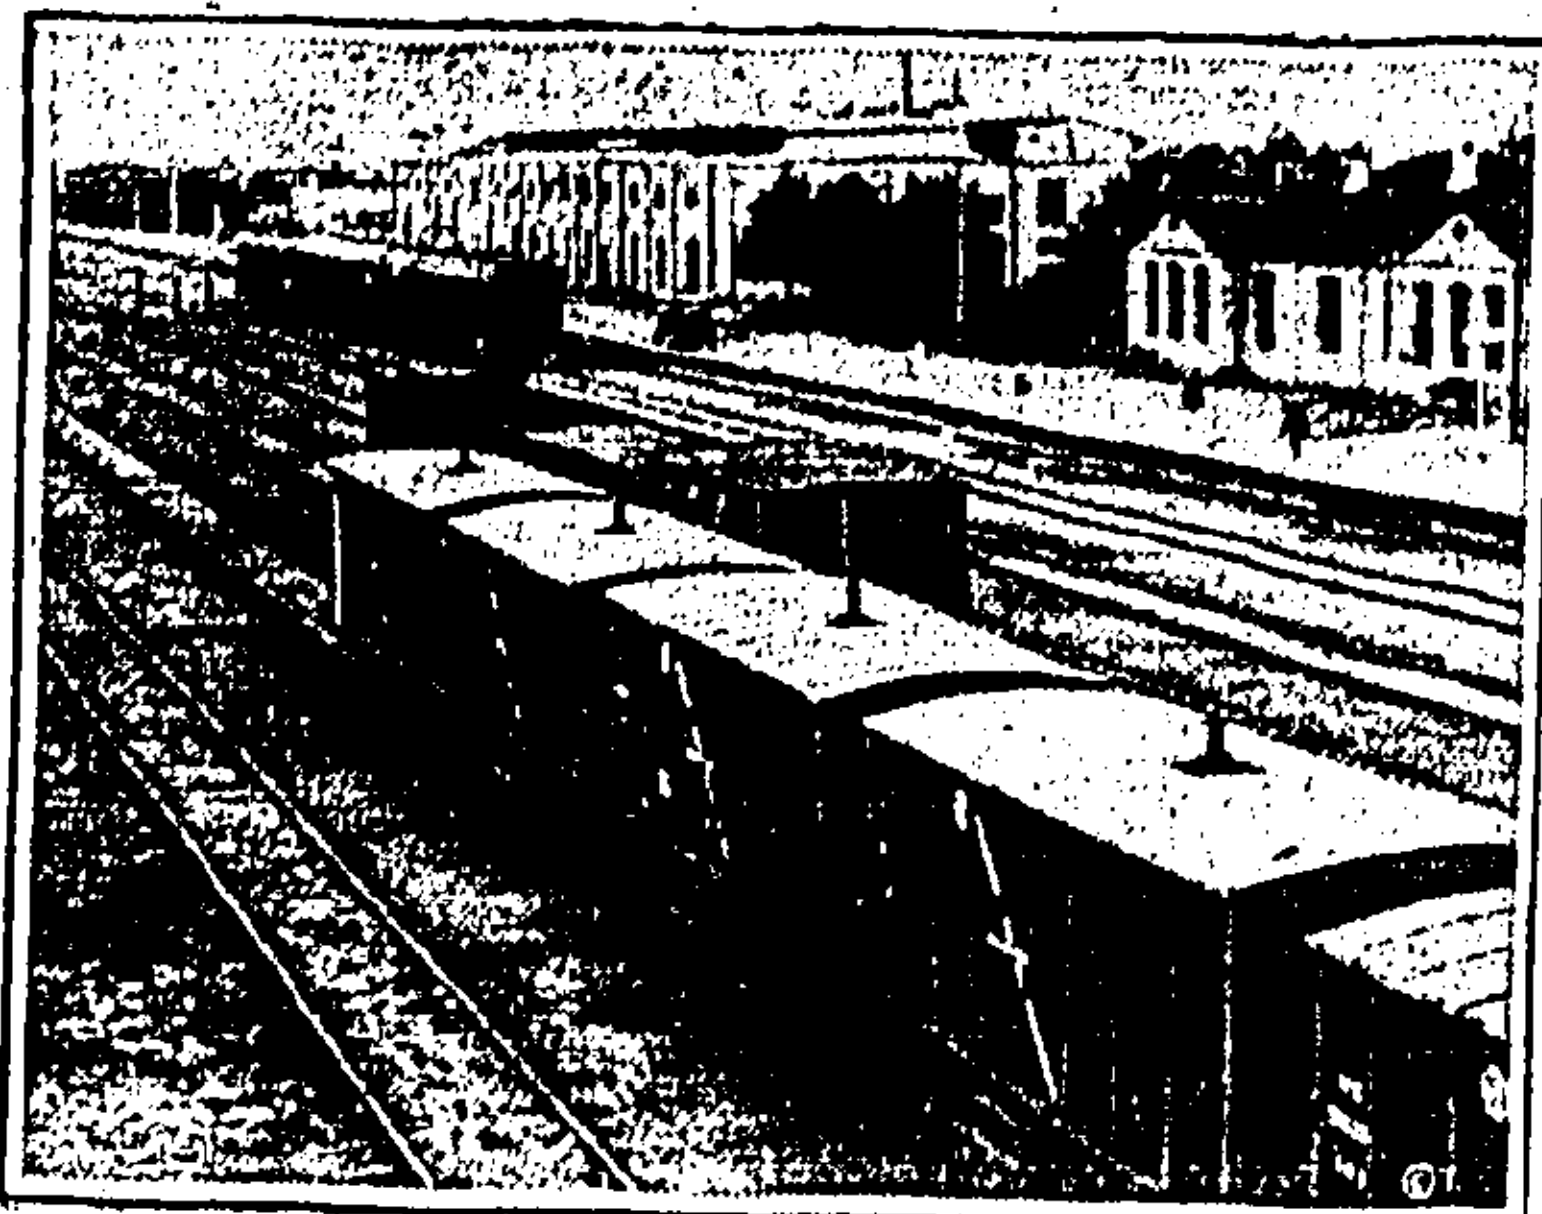

A DOUBLE EVENT.

A sweepstake within a sweepstake is the latest form of Free State enterprise. We recently received several books of tickets, posted in Birmingham, for a "Sweep" organised by an Irish holiday resort. Ticket-holders were entitled to participate in the great Dublin draw, the promoters of the resort sweep having secured a block of tickets in the Irish Hospitals Sweepstake. As the number of participants in the subsidiary sweep is unknown, investors (if any) need extra doses of faith and hope. The circular accompanying the books gives the name of the organising secretary as Fox. We at any rate, have no intention of figuring in a skein of geese.

—so you can estimate that the first year's profits would pay off the mortgage."

NEW CRISIS THREATENS IN C.E.R. DISPUTE

View of the railway junction at Manchukuo, where there is the greatest likelihood of incidents if the C.E.R. dispute crisis develops seriously.

LINE BLOCKED BY MANCHUKUO

RUSSO-JAPANESE NOTES EXCHANGED

TOKYO DENIES ANY RESPONSIBILITY

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, June 1, 8.02 a.m.)

HARBIN, JUNE 1.
AN ATMOSPHERE OF TENSION IN THE C.E.R. DISPUTE HAS AGAIN DEVELOPED SERIOUSLY.

The Soviet having refused to return the locomotives, alleged by Manchukuo to have been "stolen" from the C.E.R., Manchukuo have retaliated by blocking the line at Manchukuo and Suifenho, shutting off all connection to the Soviet and thus closing the short route to Vladivostok.

In an official statement to journalists yesterday afternoon, Mr. Lo Shao-ken declared that the stoppage of transit traffic was the most suitable and most effective method to make the Soviet Government re-consider their illegal actions.

"PRETEXT FOR VIOLENT ACTIONS"

Mr. Li Shao-ken declared that the "theft" of seventy-nine locomotives from the Chinese Eastern Railway and the failure of the Soviet to return wagons, constitutes a violation of the agreement privately concluded in 1925 by the manager of the C.E.R. and the President of the Ussuri Railway governing the exchange of wagons. He also asserted that the failure of the Soviet to return the rolling stock taken into Russian territory was a violation of Manchukuo sovereign rights, preventing the efficient functioning of the C.E.R. —Reuter.

RUSSO-JAPANESE NOTES.

Moscow, May 31. Meanwhile, feeling in Russia has been exacerbated by an exchange of Notes between Russia and Japan on the C.E.R. dispute.

JAPAN'S ATTITUDE.

The Japanese Note, which was sent in reply to the Soviet demand, made on May 16, that the Japanese Government take effective measures to protect the interests of the Soviet in regard to the railway, points out that many of the alleged infringements of those interests mentioned by the Soviet are exclusively the province of the Manchukuo Government and Japan could not accept responsibility for the actions of Japanese officials and advisers acting under the orders of that Government.

The Japanese Army, asserts the Tokyo Government, have taken care that no harm should come to the interests of the railway.

JAPAN'S DESIRE.

The Note gives an assurance of Japan's desire for a speedy and just settlement of the dispute and declares that the maintenance of peaceful relations between the Soviet and Manchukuo Governments is the most important basis of peace in the Far East.

The Soviet Reply notes the assurances and says that they exclude the possibility of the Japanese Government having any intention of evading responsibility for the violation of Soviet rights by the Manchukuo authorities under the formal pretext that they are exclusively the province of Manchukuo.

The Soviet hopes that "practical conclusions will be drawn from these assurances."

NOT A SINGLE ARGUMENT.

The Note adds that the railway dispute has been utilized by the Manchukuo authorities, with the aid of Japanese officials, as a pretext for violent and unlawful actions inimical to the U.S.S.R. and the Japanese Government is unable to bring a single argument to justify the claim of Manchukuo to the rolling-stock retained by the Soviet.

By their readiness to start negotiations for the sale of the C.E.R., the Soviet Government clearly expressed their wish to eliminate all ground for conflicts affecting the friendly relations between the U.S.S.R. and Japan.

SOVIET POLICY.

Striving to consolidate these relations was one of the elements of the Soviet's pacific policy and the Soviet Government had the right to expect that the Japanese Government would be guided by identical motives.

The Soviet Government hopes that all controversial questions will be settled in a friendly spirit in accordance with the concluding assurances of the Japanese Note. —Reuter.

THEFT FROM TILL SHOP FOKI ARRESTED ON STEAMER

Charged with the theft of $20, Chinese was sentenced to six weeks' hard labour by Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Police Court this morning to theft of $12.50, and this was accepted. Defendant was employed at a shop in Mosquito Street since September last year. He left yesterday afternoon with a small suitcase, and was arrested on board the s.s. Tin Yat. He had stolen the money from the till and had changed it into Canton money.

SLANDER CASE SOLICITOR IN SHARP COMMENT BY

apology in the first instance he would have been satisfied.

PLAINTIFF'S POSITION.

Mr. Silva: And your solicitor in open court said you would accept an apology and judgment with nominal damages. Would you have been satisfied if you had got that?

Yes. And if that apology and judgment for nominal damages came at this stage of the proceedings would you still be satisfied?

Absolutely. The next witness for the plaintiff was Earl Vincent Critchley, who said he was a clerk in Mrs. Drake's office. On January 31, he said, Mr. Newman came into the office as witness was leaving and made a remark to Mrs. Drake about Dick Adamson's band being unsatisfactory and complaints having been received.

TYPIST QUESTION.

Mr. Silva was questioning witness as to who was Mr. Newman's usual typist when His Lordship interrupted with the remark that he had settled that point the previous day.

Mr. Silva: If Mr. Newman goes out of his way to order Mrs. Drake to type a letter, that is not privileged.

Mr. Mackinlay: I think your Lordship settled that question yesterday.

Mr. Justice Lindell: I only settled it on the pleadings.

Mr. Silva (addressing witness): Who is Mr. Newman's ordinary typist?—Either Mrs. Drake or myself and lately, Mr. Newman has occasionally typed letters himself.

Mr. Silva: Who most frequently types letters for Mr. Newman?—I think I do most of it.

Mr. Silva: Can you suggest any reason why sometimes Mrs. Drake should be asked to type a letter instead of you?—I may have had some other work to do that had to be done directly.

Mr. Mackinlay did not cross-examine witness.

ASSISTANT MANAGER.

Mr. Arnold Frederick Gladstone next entered the witness box, and after stating that he was assistant manager of the Gloucester Buildings (Residential) he was questioned about the alleged complaints from patrons.

He agreed that there were complaints from patrons of the sticky state of the floor and said he reported them to Mr. Newman and the floor was put in order. There were very few complaints after that.

Referring to the changing room incident, witness said he could not recollect any remarks passed by Mr. Newman objecting to plaintiff using his witness's room.

Mr. Silva: In view of the fact that this witness is the sub-manager of the Gloucester Buildings, and that he denies a statement that Mr. Newman was supposed to have made to him and which he told plaintiff, I must ask your Lordship to allow me to treat him as a hostile witness.

Mr. Mackinlay: I object to that.

Mr. Silva: I am asking your Lordship this, in view of the fact that he has given testimony inconsistent with his previous statements to plaintiff.

Mr. Justice Lindell withheld his decision until Mr. Silva had cross-examined witness on the point.

DENIES STATEMENT.

Mr. Silva: Did you make a statement to plaintiff that Mr. Newman objected to your giving him the use of your room?—No, very definitely.

Mr. Silva repeated his application for permission to treat the witness as hostile.

Mr. Mackinlay: I very strongly object. He is a sub-poached witness. He is put in as a witness to the truth and his answer should be accepted.

His Lordship, said the witness might well have been hostile from the start. He refused Mr. Silva leave to cross-examine or treat him as hostile.

Giving evidence regarding the meals for the band, Mr. Gladstone said they complained and in consequence a special menu was drawn up for them. He thought it was correct that the boys had on some occasions refused to serve the band but could not give details. He also recalled instances where patrons had asked for ballroom powder to put on their shoes but did not remember Mr. Newman remarking that the band was one of the finest in the Colony.

Witness also denied that he was present when defendant said that Adamson could not hold the crowd with his band. He agreed that relations between defendant and plaintiff were strained and said the reason was the complaints made by Mr. Newman of the band and especially of the trumpet playing. The case is proceeding.

VISCOUNT ISHII AND LEAGUE

INEFFECTUAL UNTIL ECONOMIC BOYCOTTS ARE BANNED

New York, May 31. Viscount Ishii, in an address at a banquet given by the Japan Society, made reference to his conversations with President Roosevelt. He said he found that Mr. Roosevelt was in accord with himself on many points and in more respects than one, America and Japan stood on common ground. We came to the belief that the friendship between the two countries remained unchanged despite the discordant note of the last twenty months. America, he said, sympathised with Japan in her struggle in the Far East against "the disruptive forces of Communist propaganda."

In another speech, Viscount Ishii said the League Covenant and the Kellogg Pact would be ineffectual unless they were amended to forbid treaty-breaking economic boycotts. —Reuter.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

THE BELOVED OF THE ALMIGHTY ARE THE RICH WHO HAVE THE HUMILITY OF THE POOR, AND THE POOR WHO HAVE THE MAGNANIMITY OF THE RICH. —Scadi.

The wedding will shortly take place between Mr. James Ottaway Poter, stock-broker, of 7, Ice House Street, Hongkong, and Miss Priscilla Fairlie Arbogast, of 439, Avenue Haig, Shanghai.

According to Detective-Sub-Inspector Nolloth, in the Central Court this morning, Chinese women are not anxious to come to Court to identify stolen trousers. They are afraid of being ridiculed by the crowd, he said.

Lau So, an ex-district watchman, was this morning committed for trial by Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistrate's Court, on a charge of having caused grievous bodily injury to Li Chuen in Second Street on April 21.

Chan Lok-chai, a boy giving his age as 15 years, with six previous convictions for larceny, was convicted by Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistrate's Court this morning, on a charge of having attempted to steal a wallet containing $5.34 from Bachan Singh in a tramcar on May 30, and was sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

Mr. Peter Sin appeared for the accused, and submitted that he accidentally brushed his hand against the complainant's pocket, when taking off his hat.

By following a customer, who gave the "certain usual knock" on the door, Revenue Officer Ward was able to enter a well-barred opium divan in the Colony yesterday. The keeper was charged before Mr. Wynne-Jones in Court this morning and fined $150 or ten weeks.

Three weeks was the sentence passed on an unemployed Chinese by Mr. Wynne-Jones in Court this morning, when he pleaded guilty to receiving eight frames of glass, which had been taken from 140, Des Voeux Road Central, where the door had been prised open. Defendant, who admitted a previous conviction 10 years ago was arrested in Glanville.

RESTITUTION SOUGHT

APPLICATION AGAIN TURNED DOWN

Mr. R. H. Cole made another appearance before Mr. Butters at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning to apply for the reopening of his former application for the restitution of nine cases of rubber shoes, valued at approximately $2,000 to Mr. Tang Pak-lan who, it was claimed, bought them in a bona fide manner from Ho Ching-nam, who has since absconded and for whom a warrant of arrest has been issued.

Mr. Peter Sin, appearing on behalf of the Pacific Rubber Factory, the original owners of the shoes, opposed the application. Mr. Cole said when he made his application a few days ago, there were certain facts with which he had not been acquainted. This had placed him in a rather awkward position, but now that he was in possession of all the facts, he would like to renew his application.

Mr. Sin, in opposing said Mr. Butters could only grant the application if Mr. Cole could bring fresh grounds for argument. He contended that Mr. Cole had not done so and submitted that his Worship should not re-open the application. The magistrate said the matter had been argued in great detail at the last hearing and he did not think he was justified in re-opening the case for any further application.

"PERFECT MAN" WHAT HOLLYWOOD DEMANDS

WHAT A MAN!

Hollywood, California. The "perfect man" has been evolved from a questionnaire circulated among 107 Hollywood chieftains. Here he is: Athletic type, 29 years old, 5 feet 11 inches tall, 175 pounds in weight, wavy brown hair and blue eyes. None of the girls had seen such a man. They also specify that he must be wealthy and help to do the dishes; he may drink, smoke and swear in moderation, but must refrain from gambling; once he is married, and he must not be any means put cigarette butts in his coffee cup. A college education is not necessary. The ideal man must be a smart dresser and good dancer, but may wear glasses or sing in the bath tub. Snoring is tabooed. —Reuter.

TO-DAY'S LEAGUE TENNIS GAMES

84 PLAYERS TAKING PART

(By "Veritas")

Eighty four players will take part in league tennis
this afternoon, when the "C" Division season starts with fourteen of the fifteen clubs engaged.

The transfer of last year's four
leading teams to the "B" Division
has opened up new possibilities in
the "C". Not only has it encouraged an entirely new C.R.C. side to enter, but new teams such as the Central British Association and the Kowloon Dock are taking part this summer.

EARLY MISFORTUNE.

The last named had hopes of turning out a very useful six, but misfortune has already attended
them, and they have to take the courts without the services of two of their leading players, G. Puncheon and Sonny Bliss.

Puncheon has decided to transfer his affections to the Hongkong Cricket Club, and
Bliss is suffering from shoulder trouble, a legacy of the football season, which demands rest.

The great appeal of this division
is that whereas for several years
past it has been easy to select the
champions, the honours resting
either between the C.R.C., South
China or Recreio, this summer,
with no South China team, and new
pairs representing both the C.R.C.
and Portuguese, anything might happen.

Teams like the Army Tennis Club, Hongkong Cricket Club, and Kowloon Cricket Club, with past experience of "C" Division tennis
are just as likely to run for the leadership as either the C.R.C. or Recreio.

The Filipino Club have included
two new players in the brothers
S. A. and F. S. Hussain, who previously played for the Indian Recreation Club.
Terry Leonard is again turning out for the Club, and they expect
to make a good showing at the Craigengower.

THE PROGRAMME.

The programme is:

Recreio v Radio S. C.
—at King's Park
H.K.C.C. v Police R. C.
—at H.K.C.C.
Craigengower v Filipino Club
—at Happy Valley
Civil Service v K.I.T.C.

Campbell; D. S. Green and A. E.
Collins; J. S. Smith and D. D.
McKay.

Craigengower.—H. J. Howard

MANCHUKUO BARRED FROM GAMES.

Representatives Ruled Out
of Olympics.

Geneva, May 31.
The League secretariat to-day
circulated a revised version of the report on non-recognition of Manchukuo, compiled by the sub-committee studying this problem, which concluded, in a repetition of the earlier report, with one or two additions,
relating to the non-admission of Manchukuo representatives in either
Olympic Games or Davis Cup
matches.

There will be a meeting of the sub-committee on Thursday and it
is expected that the report will be submitted at the plenary meeting of the Advisory Committee next week.

Christian Boussus, candidate
for French Davis Cup honours
this year, gained a brilliant success in the fourth round of the French championship to-day
when he beat Frank X. Shields,
national ranking American star,
and finalist at Wimbledon in 1931 in four sets.

Boussus, who has always been seen at his best at Auteil, being finalist in 1931, walked away with

F. X. SHIELDS.

the match. He brought his fast
sliced forehand shot to Shield's backhand into active play and had
the American embarrassed the
whole time.

After winning the first two sets
at 6-3, 6-2, Boussus eased up, conceded the third without making an effort, but returned in the fourth
to call the tune and to obtain the
set at 6-4.

The Frenchman was always master of the situation and kept Shields well subdued.

FRED AND BETTY.

Fred Perry and Betty Nuthall came a cropper in the final
of the Mixed Doubles, when the
superior team work of Jack Crawford of Australia and Miss
Scriven, one of the England's most improved lady players, won
the day.

Crawford and his partner won
in straight sets, and held the whip
hand throughout.

Filipino Tennis Players
Due On Saturday.

Definite information has been received from Manila of the departure
of the two Filipino tennis players who are to visit the Colony on a tour of the Far East, where exhibition
matches are being arranged for them.
Gavia and Felician, the two expected on Sunday last, were originally expected to arrive in Hongkong yesterday, but they failed to arrive because the Empress of Russia, which was docked yesterday morning, was again the local organisers
were disappointed.

Mr. L. R. Macdonald, who is making arrangements for the players during their visit to the Colony, cabled to Manila yesterday and received a reply
to the effect that the two men will be leaving Manila by the General Pershing to-day. They are due to arrive
in Hongkong on Saturday.

J. C. BROWN.

LOCAL BOWLS RECORD

J. C. BROWN WINS
21 to 1

F. NORMINGTON
SCORES FIRST

Bowls history was made in Hongkong yesterday when, in
the first round of the Open
Singles Championship, J. C.
Brown, the Kowloon Dock skip defeated F. Normington of the Hongkong Electric by 21
shots to one.

Normington scored his single
on the first head, and thereafter
held a watching brief while Brown
helped himself to a four, a couple
of threes and a series of twos and singles with which he went out to secure 'match point.

Brown was unapproachable.
He lay with deadly accuracy and
when wicks or drives were required produced them with equal facility. Normington was given no chance of displaying his proven being completely overshadowed by the remarkable consistency of the ex-Interporter.

DRAKE'S RECOVERY.

J. Chadwick, the K.C.C. representative accomplished an excellent performance in beating W. S.
Drake, although he was a trifle
lucky to enjoy a margin of five shots.

After establishing an early lead,
Chadwick allowed Drake to catch up from 20-10 to 20-16. Drake
was then playing fine bowls and lay three, but Chadwick, with a carrying wood, took the jack and
placed it on to a wide wood for shot and match.

TO-DAY'S MATCHES.

Two matches will be played
this afternoon on the Kowloon
Cricket Club green.

F. Xavier of the Recreio opposes
G. N. Mitchell, the Kowloon Dock player, and J. M. Alves, another Recreio representative,
meets J. M. Ramsay, also of the Kowloon Dock Club.

Re-arranged ties for next week
are:

TUESDAY, JUNE 6.

Hyperion Wins the Derby

London, May 31.
The 150th running of the Epsom Derby to-day saw the pounding thoroughbreds placed in the
following order at the finish:
HYPERION (Weston).... 1
KING SALMON (Harry Wragge)..... 2
STATSMAN (Carslake) 3 SCARLET TIGER (A.
Wragge)..... 4
Betting: 6/1 Hyperion; 7/1
King Salmon; 20/1 Statesman.
Won by four lengths, one length separating the second and third horses.

Twenty-four horses ran.
Manitoba had been the favourite in the betting and last minute changes of riders did not materially affect the odds on Thrapston and Interlace, the former having Steve Donoghue for a pilot and the latter Smith.
When the field sorted itself out,
Hyperion was lying second. This position the winner held for almost the whole distance until the
final plunge down the stretch,
when he easily overhauled the
leader and finished with plenty of room to spare.

Hyperion won in the record time
2 minutes 34 seconds.
Thrapston made the running, with Steve Donoghue up, after a good start from Young Lover, Colorado,
Manitoba, Light Sussex and Hyperion.
Thrapston still led at Tattenham
Corner but Hyperion raced to the
front into the straight and won easily.
Manitoba finished well in the rear.
His Majesty the King and members
of The Royal Family were present,
with an enormous crowd.
The weather was perfect.—Reuter.
The owners of King Salmon and Statesman are Sir Cunliffe Owen
and Mr. V. Emanuel.

The "Also-Rans."

The following were the additional starters:—
Sole Boy (Collins)
Interlace (Smith)
Falcitation (Elliot)
Gino (Boary)
Franz Hals (T. Burns)
Happy Call (Gethin)
Raymond (Nicol)
Myosotis (Jones)
Caymanas (Lane)
Manitoba (Gordon Richards)
Madagascar (Bartlam)
Blue Grass (Fox)
Lover's Walk (Childs)
Thrapston (Steve Donoghue)
Melfort (Johnstone)
Colorado (McGuigan)
Tuppence (Harry Bensley)
Harinero (Ray)

HONGKONG WINNERS.

WAR DRAMA RECALLED

HOSPITAL SHIP TORPEDOED

A SURVIVOR REMEMBERS

East London, S. Africa.
A war drama enacted on March 20, 1917, off the Devonshire coast has been recalled by a cablegram sent by Mr. E. J. Dalley of East London to the proprietor of the York Hotel, Salcombe, England. The cablegram reads "Please convey my belated thanks and appreciation to Salcombe residents for kindness to me sixteen years ago."
The cable was despatched so that it would arrive at Salcombe within an hour of the sixteenth anniversary of a grim sea tragedy, and Mr. Dalley's action was prompted by a remarkable coincidence.

Ten minutes before midnight on Sunday, March 19, a 12,000-ton liner, the Arcadian, passed East London on her way to Osaka (Japan) and her doom. She left Liverpool a few weeks ago as the leader of a sad procession of three British liners which had been sold to Japanese shipbreakers.

Exactly 16 years ago to the hour that she limped past the East London roadstead, manned by a skeleton crew in darkness, Mr. Dalley lay on her deck unconscious and struggling for breath in the choking fumes of burning sulphur. She had just been ripped open by torpedoes from a German submarine as she was entering the Salcombe harbour, and there were 68 dead bodies on board.

REMARKABLE ESCAPE.

In those days she was called the Asturias. She was a hospital ship and had been to the Dardanelles, where she picked up 1,000 wounded soldiers and landed them at Avonmouth, and when the disaster took place was returning to her base at Southampton.

It was ten minutes before midnight when she was cruising close to the Devon coast. Suddenly there was a terrific crash and a blinding mountain of water swept over the ship as she heeled over under the impact of two torpedoes. One struck the Asturias midships and the other tore away her rudder and propeller.

She rocked dangerously, and there was a nightmare wailing and gurgling as the terrified cries of the wounded mingled with the sound of water as it rushed in the smoking hold.

One torpedo lodged in a three-ton stack of sulphur, and the deadly fumes enveloped the ship.

The Asturias was foundering, and it seemed as if there was no hope. But suddenly fate took a hand, and while lifeboats were being manned and the crew was trying to establish order and quiet, the Asturias was carried by waves on to a shallow bank where her keel became embedded in the sands.

BEACHED AT SALCOMBE.

By the time the tide turned the engineers had managed to get up steam; and at four o'clock, after the enemy submarine had again attempted to sink her, she ran full speed towards the land and beached at the entrance to the Salcombe harbour.

Mr. Dalley was taken ashore by a rescue party of Salcombe residents and was made comfortable at the York Hotel, which was used as an improvised hospital. He spent six months there, and eventually recovered. His brother, who was on the ship as well, died from injuries.

Mr. Dalley does not know whether the same man still owns the hotel, but expects that his message will be passed on.

The Asturias was towed to Devonport, re-equipped and called the Arcadian, and used for pleasure cruises.—Reuter.

REAL INVENTOR OF ENGINES

CORNISHMAN TAKES PRIDE OF PLACE

A CENTENARY

London.
If you want to annoy a Cornishman, mention casually that Stevenson invented railway engines.

"Never!" your Cornish friend will reply. "Trevithick was the real father of the steam locomotive."

And it is to this neglected genius, who died in poverty, that British engineers are paid tribute this year, a century after he died.

Richard Trevithick designed the first practicable steam road carriage and the first railway locomotive, and he foresaw the great possibilities of a mechanised agriculture.

Until he began his experiments, engines had been worked on the low pressure, or atmospheric, principle. This involved the use of a condenser and a steam pressure which rarely exceeded four or five pounds to the square inch.

Trevithick eliminated the condenser and increased the pressure to between 80 and 100 pounds. In this way he produced a portable engine.

CIRCULAR RAILWAY.

In 1808 he again added to the gaiety of London. This time he built a circular railway near the new highway, now called Euston Road, and thrilled the public by rushing them round at a speed varying between twelve and fifteen miles an hour.

But he forebore other possibilities than transport for his invention. He used it for boring and breaking rock, and for dredging, and he entered into a contract to lift ballast from the bed of the Thames. He said he could raise 500,000 tons a year.

Even that did not exhaust his inventive enthusiasm. He built a threshing machine and in 1812 he told the Board of Agriculture that if they used steam in all the phases of agriculture they would double the population of the country and make our market the cheapest in the world.

On returning to England in 1827 from South America, where he had been engaged in mine prospecting, he unsuccessfully petitioned Parliament for a reward for his inventions, and six years later, on April 22, 1833, he died at Dartford—penniless.—Reuter.

LATEST LUXURY LINER

TOO BIG TO GET OUT OF DOCK

Paris.
So large is the new French luxury liner "Normandie" that she cannot get out of the port of St. Nazaire with the quays arranged as they are at present.

The Chamber of Commerce has therefore decided to raise a loan of 10,000,000 francs to defray the cost of re-arranging the wharfs so that the "Normandie" can enter and leave the port.

The "Normandie," which is nearly 20,000 tons gross larger than largest liner afloat, was launched at St. Nazaire on October 29 last. She has a displacement of 70,000 tons and an estimated speed of 30 knots. Her length is 1,027 feet and her total height from keel to bridge, 128 feet. She will have accommodation for 2,500 passengers including 800 first class. Officers, crew and hotel staff will number 1,400. She should be finished in the spring of 1934.—Reuter.

A WONDERFUL OLD WOMAN

APPRECIATES THE WIRELESS

Melbourne.

One hundred years old, Miss Catherine Cronin, living at West Parkville, Victoria, can read, sew, and sign her name without the aid of spectacles. She appreciates the wireless, lives on a normal diet, and seldom goes to bed before 10 p.m.

Miss Cronin is in complete command of all her faculties, and since childhood—she was born in County Cork—has never had the attention of a doctor. At her birthday party, there were 12 nieces and nephews, 51 grand-nieces, and a grand nephew and great-grand-nephew.

Miss Cronin once lived in a cottage in the grounds of Melbourne's first Government House in Jolimont, after Governor Latrobe and Sir Charles Hotham had completed their terms of office. In those days she said, the whole neighbourhood was rural.

"You have a wonderful, memory," she was told.

"Thank God I have," came the rejoinder, "for I can boss every one of my relations."

Miss Cronin says that she has followed cricket keenly since Dr. W. G. Grace paid his first visit, when she saw him play.

One New Year's Eve she saw the year in and went to bed at 2 a.m.—Reuter.

837 COILS—each in an individual muslin pocket—give instantaneous adjustment to the slightest movement. No other mattress has the same construction as the BEAUTY-REST.

Sleep as You Have Never Slept on SIMMONS Beautyrest

A good night's rest brings you a mysterious glowing something no beauty aids can match. Takes away every trace of fatigue from a woman's face.

But a night of only part-way resting sleep leaves on your face lines you cannot hide.

Science says that really rejuvenating sleep comes only when every nerve and muscle can relax.

A lumpy mattress or a sagging one cannot give it to you. You may not realize the difference. But surely and steadily that difference is being written on your face.

There is a mattress that gives you this deep rejuvenating sleep—the Simmons BEAUTYREST.

All through this famous mattress are tiny coils of finely tempered steel. 837 of them. Each in its individual muslin pocket. They buoy you up. You feel no restriction. You can turn in your sleep without knowing it! Every inch of you gets gloriously relaxed.

Don't let another day go by without your seeing this famous mattress.

LOVE OR MONEY?

some time. But not now!"

"Why not?" His voice was harsh. "Is it because you want to enjoy your fortune a little longer? Mona, can't you take me as I am with what I have to give you? Isn't that enough?"

"Do you own half the mine, Barry?" she asked deliberately.

He considered this. "No," he said, "but what has that to do with it? I'm not starving. You wouldn't starve as my wife. You wouldn't starve as my wife."

"Do you own Holiday?"

"Part of it. Holiday is figured in with the rest of the property. Steve owns more than half. I thought I explained that. The sale of the Empress clinched things. For a while—at least until I'm 30—I'm rather in Steve's stewardship, so to speak. He has more power in any measure than I have but that doesn't mean anything because it's Steve! It isn't as though he'd ever try to do anything I didn't approve."

"If Steve should die to-morrow," Mona said slowly, "the mine would belong—more than half of it and more than half of Holiday—to his heirs. Have you thought of that?"

"You see, Barry, if I don't marry you right off perhaps I can think of a way to help you!"

"So that's your plan!" Barry's voice rose in dismay and disdain. "Do you think I'd let you help me, Mona? Do you think I'd take a cent of that money—?"

"Why not?"

"Because I couldn't! Mona, Mona, forget all this! What do you care for money? We have enough. Do I look so poor? Let the money go to the cat hospital or whatever he wanted it to go to and marry me!"

There was a rustle in the shrubbery close by. Then a shadow flung itself across the sand at their feet and separated from the clump of trees as if torn away by someone's hands.

"So this is where you are, Mona! Why didn't you tell me? I went into your room for some water—my thermos was empty—and couldn't find you. I was worried stiff! You know those snakes—oh, Barry! Well, thank goodness, I didn't have the fire department out!"

"Wait Lottie, I'm coming," Mona rose from the sand and walked slowly toward the girl in the pathway.

"Say, I don't want to interrupt anything," Lottie began uncertainly.

"We've finished talking," Mona assured her.

"Are you sure there isn't anything more to say?" asked Barry.

"We'll talk it over in the morning, Barry."

"There's nothing to talk over. You can simply say 'yes' or 'no.' Lottie interposed cheerfully,

THE RISE OF DILLON.

More spectacular, and the only Wall Street house without decades of influence behind it, is Dillon, Read & Co., 28 Nassau street. A partnership in this firm is believed by some to be worth more in money each year than one in J. P. Morgan or Kuhn, Loeb.

The story of this firm is the story of its brilliant head, Clarence Dillon, who reorganized the older firm of William A. Read & Co.

Scarcely had he done so when he startled the country by undertaking reorganization of Goodyear Rubber, a job many Wall Street firms had shied away from. Dillon successfully floated $30,000,000 in new securities in the reorganized company, and became suddenly one of the great of the banking world.

But his most spectacular deal was the outright purchase of Dodge Bros. from the founders' heirs, for cash. Even J. P. Morgan & Co. was openly challenged in this deal. Morgan wanted it for his General Motors interest. But Dillon's cash won the day, and the cheque he wrote for $146,000,000 was one of the largest private industrial transactions for cash ever made.

Three years later he sold his Dodge holdings to Chrysler at a profit estimated at $40,000,000. Besides these enormous deals, Dillon was instrumental in organizing Youngstown Sheet & Tube out of the Sheet and Tube merger, and bought an $8,000,000 interest in the Bank of Manhattan Co. He has floated loans for Brazil, Netherlands, Japan, Poland, France, Germany and several South American countries.

As Dillon is now 51, his original ambition to become a street car motorman in his native San Antonio, Tex., will probably never be realized.

"Don't mind me. I'll run ahead." "Let's wait until to-morrow, Barry. Please!"

"Say yes or no, Mona, to-night!" "Do you mean that?"

He nodded seriously, "I do." "Then it will have to be 'no,' the girl said slowly. "I'm sorry, Barry."

BIG GAOL BREAK

CONVICTS KIDNAP
GOVERNOR

Lansing, (Kansas), May 31.

Military aeroplanes are hunting for 11 desperate convicts who escaped from the State Penitentiary, carrying as hostages three women, the Governor of the prison and two guards.

The hostages were used by the convicts as human shields to ward off the bullets of the pursuing police.

In making their escape, the convicts overpowered the Governor and two guards, and bundled them into a car. At pistol point they made the Governor order the opening of the prison gates.

The Governor and guards were later released.

A large force of warders are at present journeying to Picher,

Oklahoma, where the convicts are believed to be hiding.

Later.

The two seventeen-year-old girls and the paralysed woman who were held as hostages by the convicts who broke from the Lansing

Prison, have been released and are safe.—Router Special.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

There is no doubt but that the bidding in contract provides and produces most of the thrills. But what is the use of good bidding unless it is combined with fine play?

Again, if you find a pair that bid a hand well, you must learn how to defend it properly or you have but little chance of defeating this pair. Therefore, when on the defensive, play no card until you have given it some thought.

I want to call your attention to an interesting defensive play that came up in the following hand.

South, the dealer, while holding three trumps and a biddable heart suit, should not open the bidding, as there is no flexibility to the hand.

Possibly the best declaration for this type of hand would be no trump, but the hand is not

♠K-Q-10-8-5-3-2	♥8	♦6-5-4	♣K-J
♠A	♥K-J-7	♦K-J	♣A
♠K-J	♥9-7	♦9-7	♣9-7

♠9-6-4	♥A-Q-9-6	♦A-Q-8	♣A-8-2

The Bidding

strong enough to make an original no trump bid in the constructive one over one system.

After the pass, west opened the bidding with one club. North bid one spade and East passed.

South now bid two hearts. West passed and North bid two spades. South, wishing to make another constructive bid, bid two no trump.

It is sound to reason that if North has any side strength it must be in clubs. When North bid three spades, South went to four.

The Play

East's opening lead was the six of clubs, which West won with the ace. West returned a small club, which declarer won with the king.

The king of spades was won by West with the ace. He returned the queen of clubs, declarer trumping. The queen of spades picked up East's jack.

In order to make game, declarer can lose but one more trick. If he can find the king of diamonds and the king of hearts in the East hand, it will be easy, but the bidding indicates that West possibly holds them.

However, the declarer led the six of diamonds. A careless East player would allow the contract to be made.

You have heard an old auction rule which says "Second hand plays low." You must forget those auction tactics when playing contract and must stop to think before playing a card.

THE KING'S BIRTHDAYMARTIAL PARADE ON SATURDAYPLANS FOR LOCAL CELEBRATION

The sixty-eighth birthday of His Majesty the King will be celebrated in Hongkong on Saturday in the usual manner, the principal event being the military and naval parade in Statue Square at 10 a.m., when it is hoped that His Excellency the Governor will be well enough to take the salute.

The Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps will participate, the Anzac Company, the youngest unit in the forces, being chosen to carry the colours.

Guards of Honour at Statue Square will comprise two officers and fifty other ranks from the Royal Navy and two officers and fifty other ranks from the 1st Battalion of the South Wales Borderers.

ALL BRANCHES OF SERVICES.

Participants in the march past will include the Royal Navy and Royal Marines, the 8th Heavy Brigade of the Royal Artillery, the Royal Engineers, the 1st Battalion, Lincolnshire Regiment and the 1st Battalion, South Wales Borderers.

Other units will comprise the 1st Mountain Battery, the Second Fourth and Fifth Heavy Batteries, the Royal Army Service Corps, the 1st Regiment, the Hongkong Mule Corps, and the Royal Air Force.

They will be followed by the Hongkong Volunteer Corps, who will parade at full strength, and representatives of the Royal Merchant Navy, St. John Ambulance Brigade, Boy Scouts and the Guards Association.

ROYAL SALUTE.

At 10 a.m. His Excellency the Governor will arrive at the South Side of the Cenotaph, and will be received with a Royal Salute from the Guards of Honour.

After inspecting the Guards, His Excellency will take his position on the pavement on the North side of the Cenotaph, and a Royal Salute of 21 guns will then be fired by the 5th H.K.S. Heavy Battery.

On the conclusion of the seventh, fourteenth, and twenty-first rounds of the Salute a feu de joie will be fired by the 1st Battalion, the Lincolnshire Regiment.

Three cheers will be given for His Majesty the King, and units will then march past in column of route.

The starting point of the march will be at the Prince of Wales Gate, Royal Naval Dockyard.

diamond, the declarer is "going to get an end play on your partner. Your proper play is to go right up with the ten of diamonds—this will set the declarer one trick.

If you play the deuce, declarer will play the eight from dummy and West will win with the nine. Regardless of what West now leads, the declarer has the rest of the tricks.

PEERS SAVE THE CIRCUS

MONKEY'S WHISKY AND SODA

The circus has been saved.
By two votes the House of Lords rejected a Bill which, if passed, would have prohibited performances by chimpanzees, lions, tigers and other big cats, bears and hyenas and, as Lord Jessel pointed out would have deprived children of many of the delights of the travelling circus.

The debate centred on the old question: "Can these animals be trained by kindness?"
"No," said Lord Danvers, the mover, Lord Kinross, the seconder, and Lord Banbury, who maintained that circus tricks were contrary to an animal's nature and must involve cruelty.

SLIMMING CRUELTY.
On the other hand, Lord Carnock said that when people considered cruelty to animals they were apt to lose all sense of proportion.

"Film actors and actresses," he continued, "are forced to slim, and some people would say that this was a case of gross cruelty. It is, in fact, a painful business. I know, because I have tried it myself." (Laughter)

Experience showed that animals could be trained by kindness.

"I have got a chimpanzee to drink a whisky and soda, a thing I have done very easily myself. Many of your lordships have never done it. I have done it often." (Laughter)

Lord Lucan, remarking that the Home Office had no fresh evidence of cruelty since 1925, declared the Government's neutrality, and left the matter to a free vote of the House, with the result stated.

GUILTY KNOWLEDGE ISSUE

CHINESE DISCHARGED WITH CAUTION

There being insufficient evidence of guilty knowledge a Chinese was discharged by Mr. Schofield in the Central Police Court this morning, when he appeared on a charge of uttering a forged $10 note of the Chartered Bank.

Detective-Sergeant O'Donovan said the defendant, who was in the habit of daily paying 35 cents rent to a woman, paid the rental for the month in a lump sum, and straightaway left in search of a cheaper lodging. The prosecution inferred guilty knowledge by the fact that defendant suddenly decided to pay his rent in a lump sum instead of daily.

Discharging the defendant with a caution, Mr. Schofield advised him to be more careful in the use of banknotes in the future.

ALLEGED RIFT IN CABINET

APPARENTLY NOT TRUE

London, May 31.
London political circles were full of rumours to-day suggesting that Sir John Simon is likely shortly to tender his resignation from the Cabinet.

The rumours were based upon the Foreign Minister's recent ill-health, although it was also suggested in some quarters that the real reason was connected with an acute disagreement with the majority of the Cabinet in the matter of air bombing.

It is stated that Sir John Simon is opposed to air bombing of any description, even for police purposes, and has urged that the reservation in the British Disarmament Plan be withdrawn.

SIR JOHN'S PLANS.
Ruter learns, however, that Sir John Simon has no intention of resigning on the air bombing issue, but he will not go to Geneva this week in any case and he may rest after Friday's debate in the House of Commons on foreign affairs.

At Geneva, it is understood the General Commission decided not

Tao Kam Tong, (17) was charg-

Central Police Court this morning with the theft of a wrist watch in Connaught Road Central. Defendant pleaded guilty and was remanded.

Detective-Sergeant Fowle said that complainant went for a swim near the Harbour Office. A small suggested the lad should also have a swim and offered to hold the jacket. When they finished their swim, the complainant discovered his watch was missing. Defend-to take the second reading of the British Disarmament Convention but to adjourn the Conference for three weeks.

NEW CONVENTION.

In the meantime, the Bureau of the Conference will draft a fresh Convention based upon the British Plan with the approved amendments.

In the House of Commons tonight, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, replying to questions in reference to the British reservation for the use of aircraft for police purposes in outlying areas, said the Government would obviously be free to employ such aircraft as they might be allotted under the convention in such manner and in such places as they might think fit, subject to any international regulation that might be agreed.
